Paving the Future. . .
We all need a strong foundation--
A place where dreams begin, friends are made, and long-lasting memories are created. . .
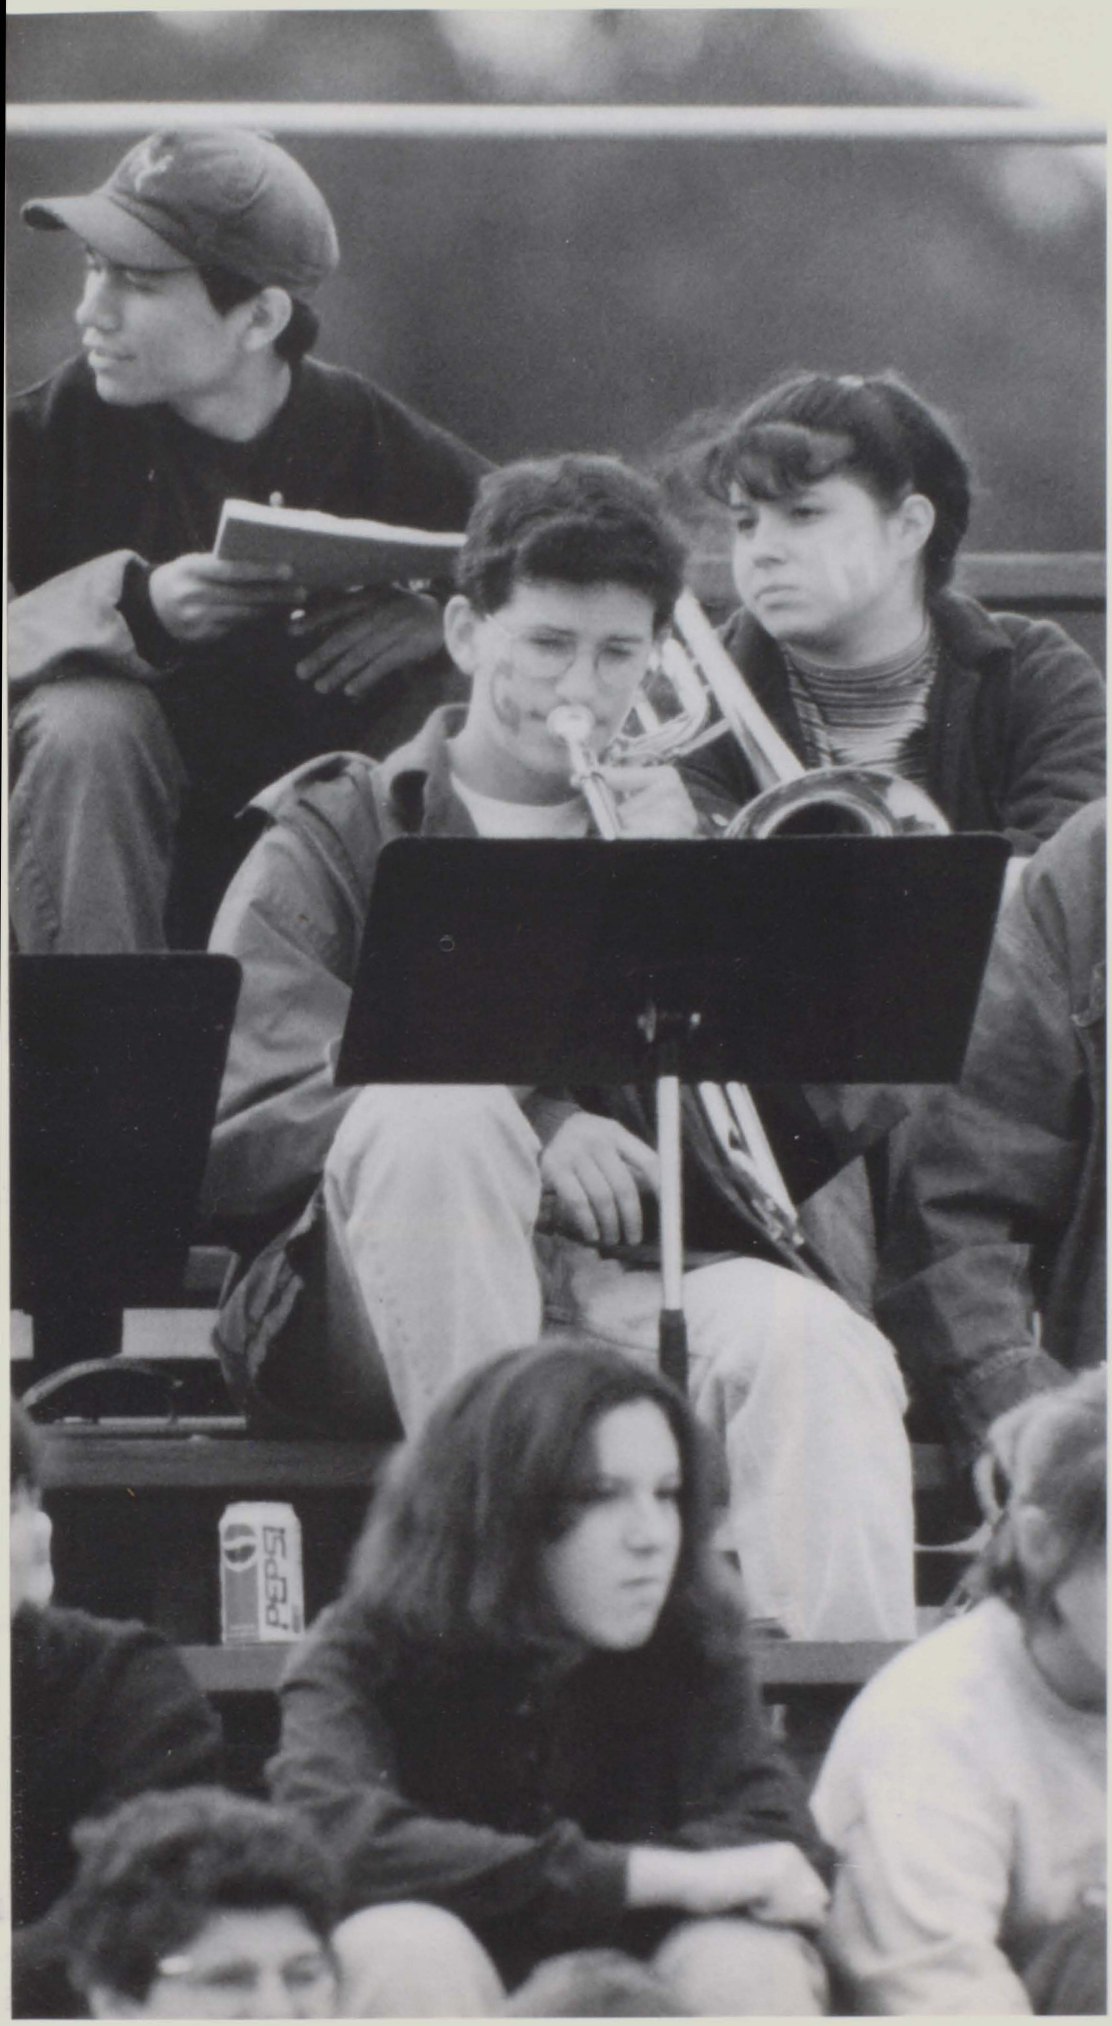
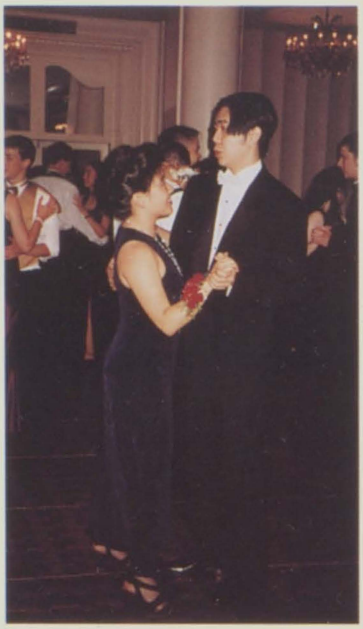
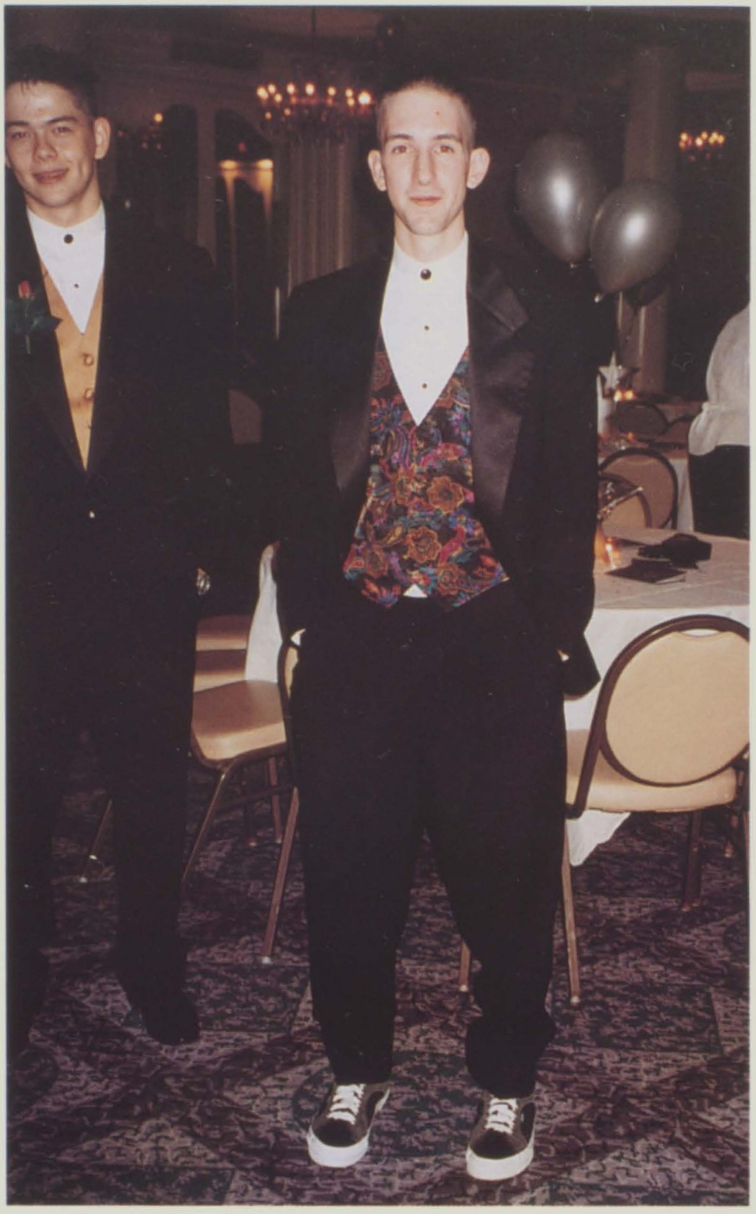
a school where pathways are paved that make the seemingly impossible truly possible.



PEOPLE



As Seniors Ricky Soong and Grace Chae danced to the music, the words "Oh! My darling!" were heard.



Juniors Erin Avots and Chris Lutz eagerly anticipated the good times to come for the remainder of the evening.

Prom 1995

Celestial Ball

In early summer, the Prom Committee began looking for that special place- - one that would make Prom Night a magical experience for all who attended. The Celestial Ball was held at the Omni Shoreham Hotel in Washington, D.C. Queen Norma Fuentes and King Duane Lomis reigned over the evening's events.

Senior Chris Marcey sports his comfy attire in the midst of Prom '95!

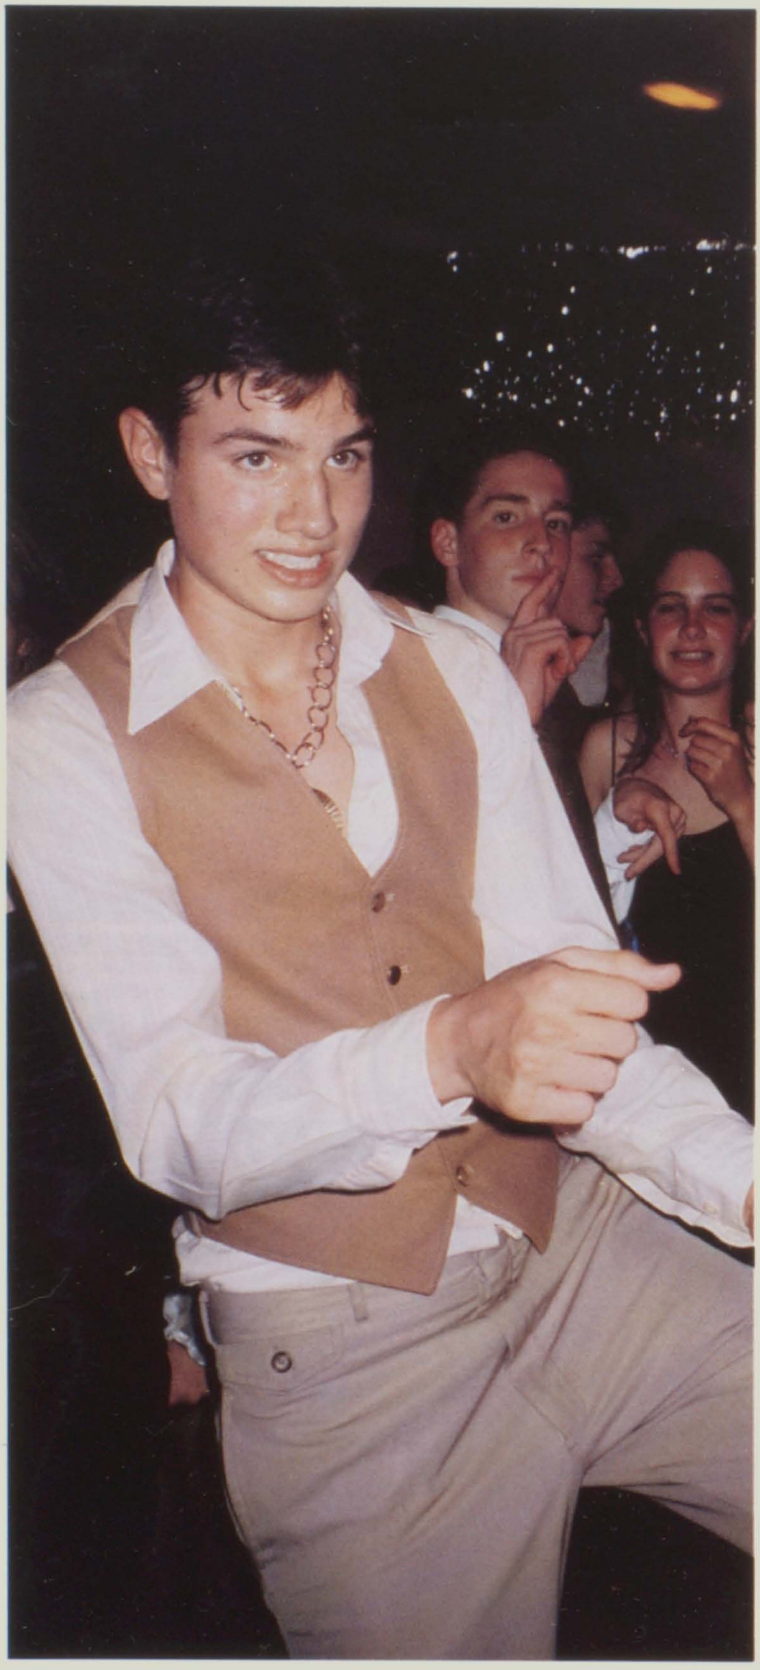
King Duane Lomis and Queen Norma Fuentes danced the night away.

"This is the last year we have to smile for all these goofy yearbook pictures!" said Seniors Marlin Kahn, Allison Spector, Holly Benner and Tosh Akiyama.

Junior Trevor Sweek and Senior Cathy Bautista had an incredible time enjoying themselves at the Celestial Ball.

Juniors Heidi Harrington and Darren Robertson stood at attention in the spotlight.

1995 Homecoming



Homecoming '95 had a record-setting number of attendees. The Disco Dance was held in the cafeteria where GM students talked with friends and danced the night away to a 70's Disco atmosphere. The Queen and King were Tate Pannabecker and Tayo Adamolekun. All those who attended had a blast.

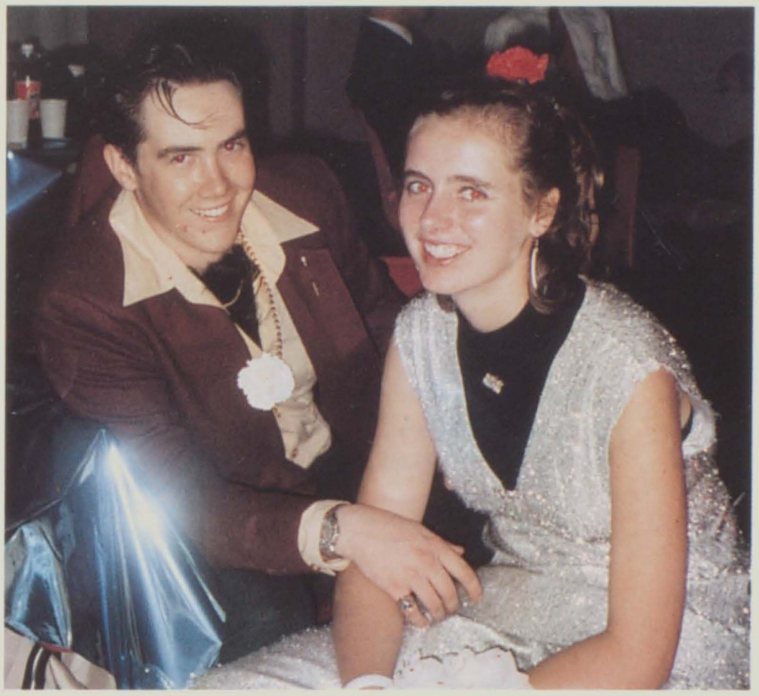
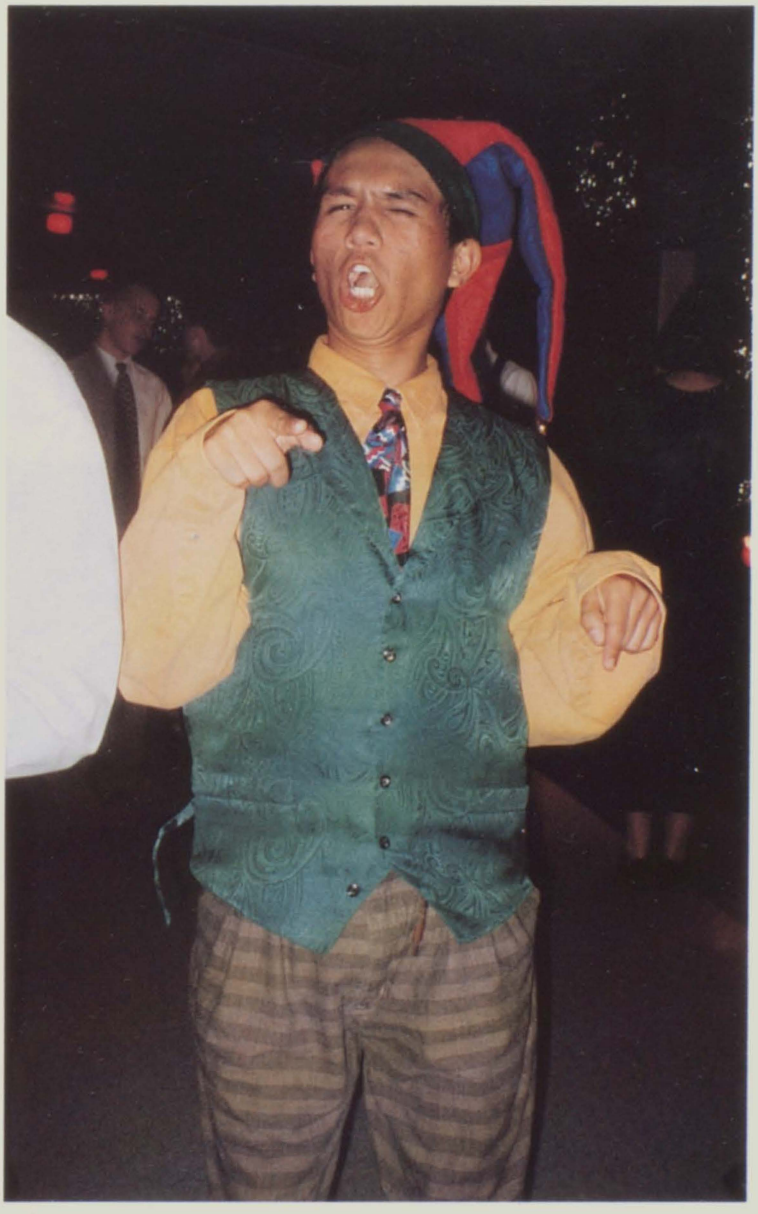
(Below) Jaimi Fitzgerald, Bendik Simonsen, and Lisa Grimm were elected to represent their classes for Homecoming '95.



(Above) Freshman buddies Lauren Lewis and Summer Harrington weren't too busy to take a little time off the dance floor to have a quick chat.



(Right) Senior Sunrise Tippeconnic: "No Comment."

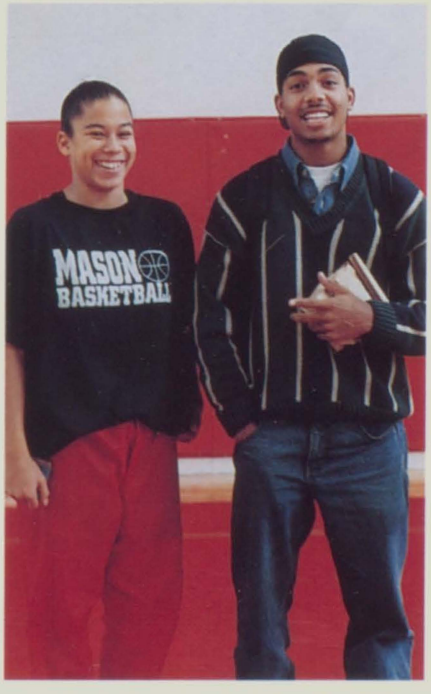
Senior Superlatives

With continuous and friendly laughter, it is easy to understand why Carolina Espinal and Jody Fellows are the MOST FUN TO BE AROUND. Always giving hugs and creating laughter, these two make pleasant company for their classmates.

Even when everyone else is tired, Nancy McElwain and Alex Mejias prevail as the MOST ENERGETIC students. Nancy and Alex are able to evoke pep and spirit in their fellow classmates while being actively involved in a variety of Mason sports.

Stacey Brown and Trevor Sweek just won't shut up! As the MOST TALKATIVE members of the Senior Class, Trevor and Stacey can be found conversing with anyone, anywhere, at any time, on any topic.

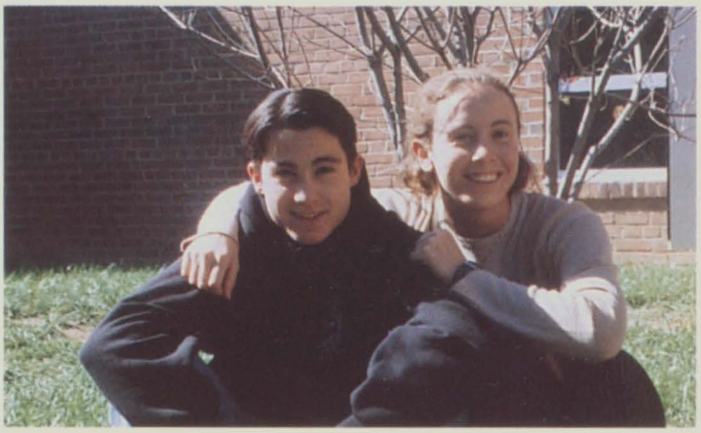
Crazy antics and zany comments often come from the MOST HUMOROUS Seniors, Sarah Jackson and Franklin Day. These two are funny alone and hysterical together. Watch out, Ben and Stiller!



All-District football, basketball, and baseball player Michael Greene and All-District basketball and softball player Michele Wilson are the MOST ATHLETIC Seniors. Michael and Michele have always been active and key members of the teams for which they give their all.

No task is too large for Katia Fredriksen and Chris Lutz, the MOST TALENTED members of the Class of '96. After countless hours of volunteering and long nights of school work, Chris and Katia are still able to be as creative as possible.

After four years of Pep Band, drama productions, and other school activities, Greg Ristow has been MOST LIKELY TO SUCCEED. Not to be outdone, his partner in crime Jordan Hamory has spent her high school career showing strong leadership and scholastic abilities. Look for a presidential nomination for one of these two!



The CLASS CUTIES with the sweetest smiles are Kyra Lukomski and David Chaves. Dave and Kyra are often found in the same places: sporting events, class activities, and weekend "free time." In the words of grandmothers' everywhere, "you are sooo cute!"

From abstract to portraits, cartoons to sculptures, nearly all artistic feats can be accomplished by Mary Jeanne Cincotta and Sunrise Tippeconnic, MOST ARTISTIC members of the class. Mary Jeanne's original creations and Sunrise's incredible recreations have enhanced the beauty of the school community.

Jenny Williams and Christian Arllen, with their shining smiles and geniune laughs, are two of the MOST FRIENDLY members of the Senior Class. Jenny and Christian will always lend an ear or offer a shoulder to one of their fellow classmates.

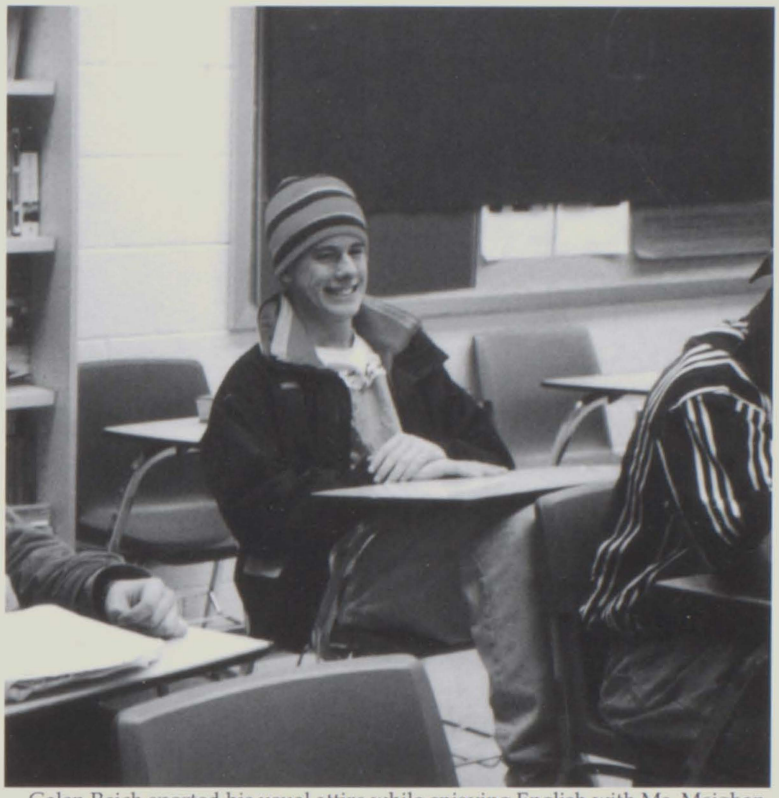
Ben Reynolds and Eddie Jordan are trying to survive their junior year by goofing around at lunch.

These four friends, Ania Sales, Vanessa Barber, Bethy Heller and Lorena Angulo could always find something to smile about.



Galen Reich sported his usual attire while enjoying English with Ms. Meighan.

ONE MORE YEAR! Then we could have our own parking lot, our own courtyard for lunch, and all of the other privileges that go along with being Seniors! This year's Junior class looked foward to a successful Prom and many of the other fun and new experiences that came along with being JUNIORS! One more year.

Stacy Rosholt watched the Pep Rally in awe, while newcomer James Moody seemed to enjoy his company a little more.

Junior girls Libby Yates, Leslie Day, Susy Yates, Christina Pagano, Nora Brew and Rachel Buckingham held unsuspecting Junior guy Brett Hutchinson.

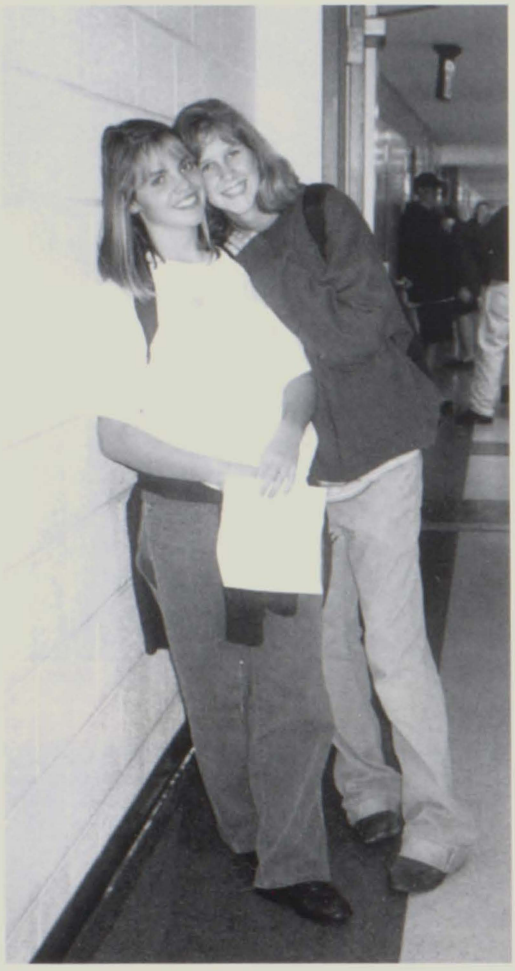
These two good friends, Nora Brew and Jill Dodson, leaned on the wall to rest up for their next class.



Juniors Robert Durham, Christian Blood and Eric Deschamps went back in time for Homecoming Week's "70's Day".

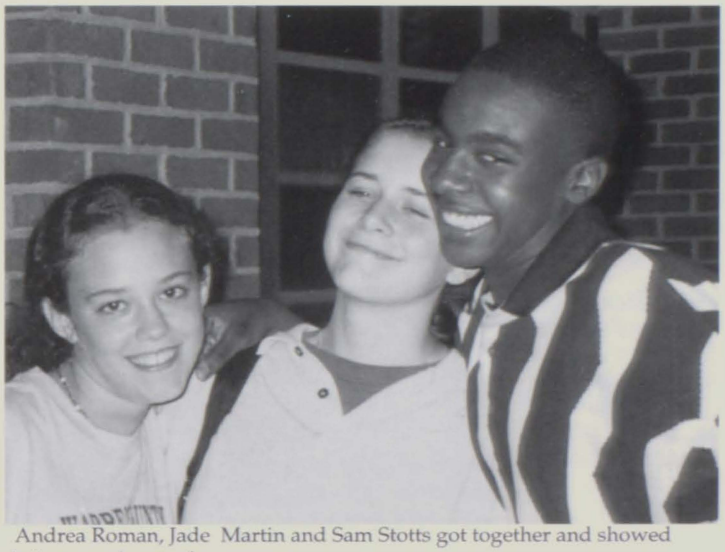
Stopping quickly at her locker, Junior Laura Sweeny was caught by this unknown photographer.

"Whoa! This is cool!" exclaimed Junior Ben Reynolds.

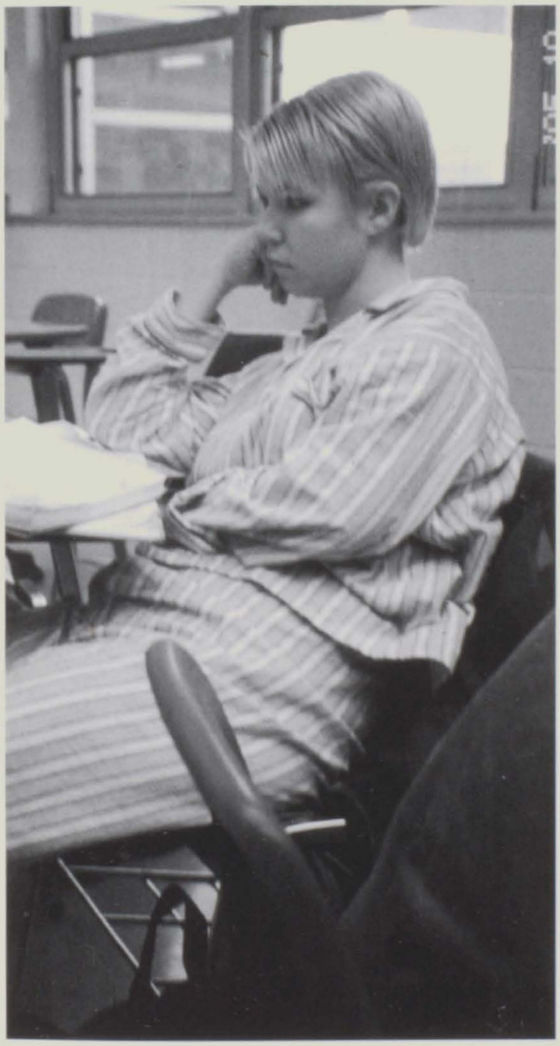
Paul Blodgett, Eddie Jordan and Greg Fitzgerald looked over the railing in quite a crazy way.

"Gee, do you really like my hair?", asked Junior Ana Resnick.

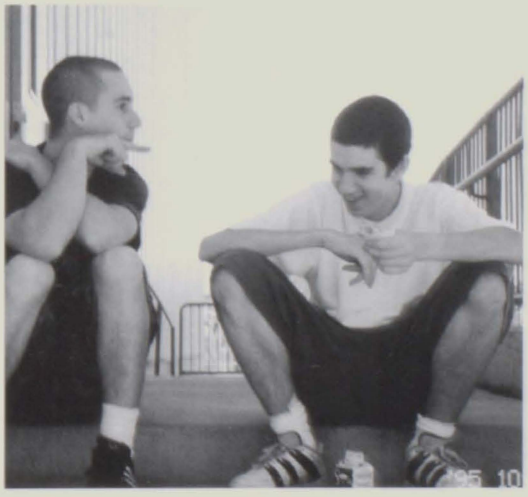
This group of Juniors got ready to tug with the Sophomores before the rope broke in half.



Andrea Roman, Jade Martin and Sam Stotts got together and showed their true colors to the camera.

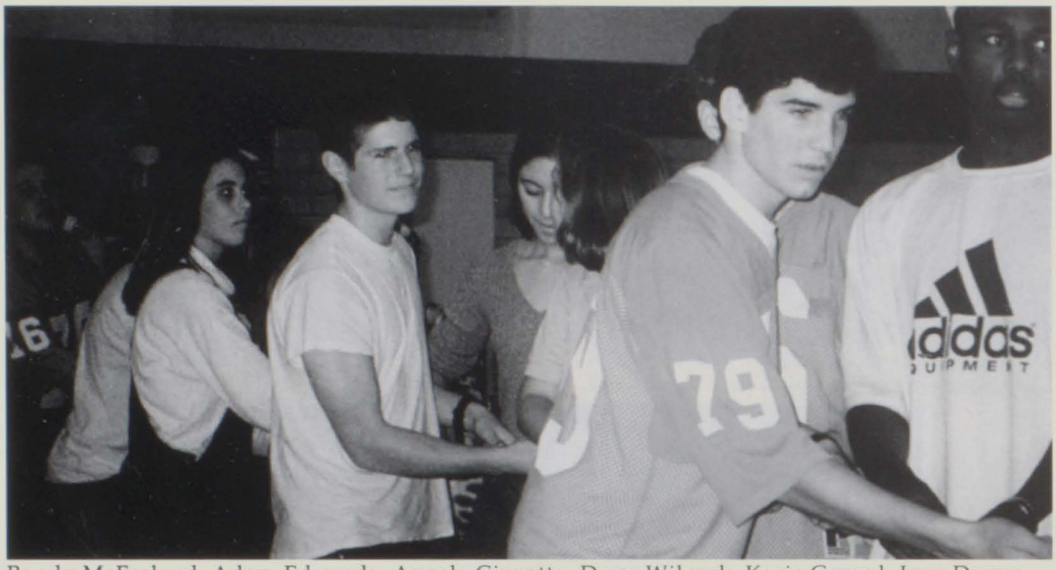


Allison Burfield struggled to stay awake and pay attention at the same time while wearing her pjs for Pajama Day.



Junior Jason Ferrari and friend Jimmy Petty tryed to get away from everyone and enjoy our wonderful school lunch.

Sophomores



Randy McFarland, Adam Edwards, Angela Cincotta, Drew Wilcock, Kacie Gerard, Joey Domm, Trevor Griffin and Joe Wiley gather together before beating the seniors in the tug of war event.

"Pulling Together"
--Unique, unified, extreme and unexpected. All these words describe and classify the Class of 1998. Coming a long way from last year, we managed to "pull together." By showing our spirit and determination, our efforts enabled us to BEAT THE SENIORS in the tug of war event at the pep rally. We also showed support and enthusiam in sports, academics, and after-school activities. This year we proved that we were ONE as a whole, and even through diversity and hard times, we bonded and pulled through.

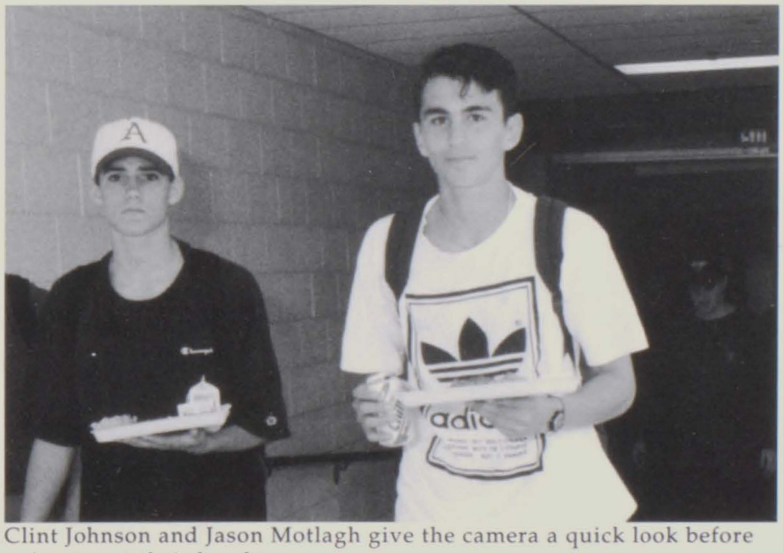
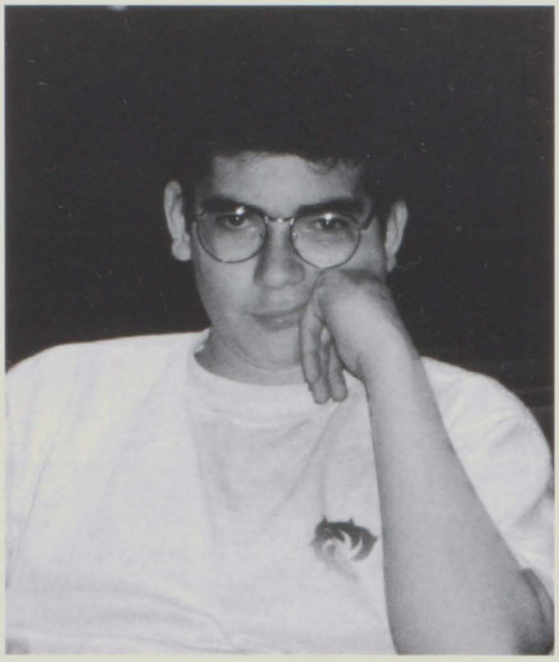
Still looking cheerful at the end of the day are Erin Sweeney and Rachel Dana.



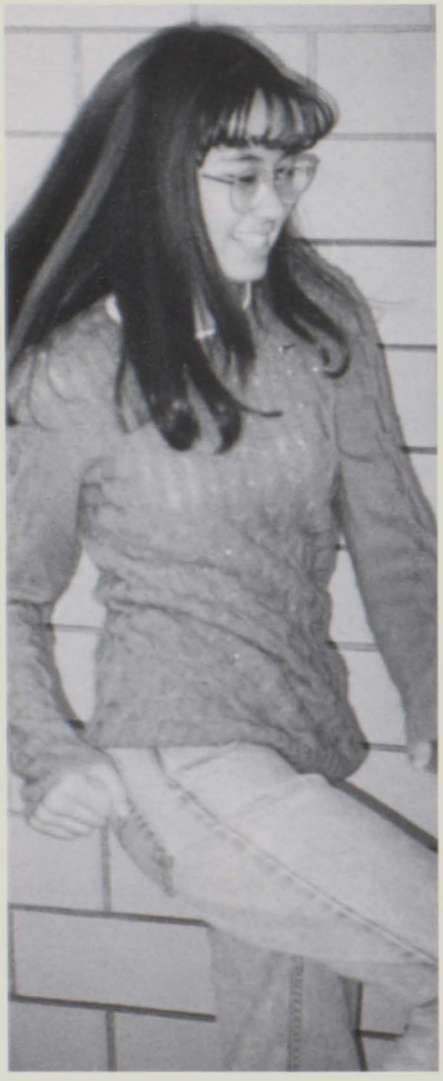
Clint Johnson and Jason Motlagh give the camera a quick look before going to eat their lunch.

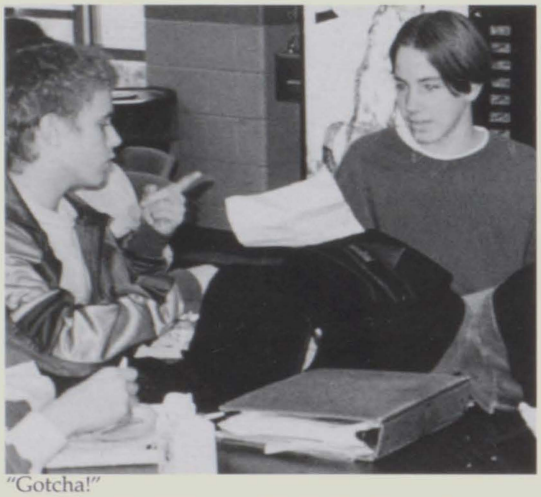
Freshmen Meredith Griffiths, K.C. Atabaki, Morgan Burfield and Jen Obenstine sat to brainstorm ideas for the freshman hall during the annual Homecoming hall decorating.

"What a day!", sighed freshman Tim Sharpe



Needing to release energy accumulated during the school day, Freshman Olivia Thomas found a good friend to take it out on.

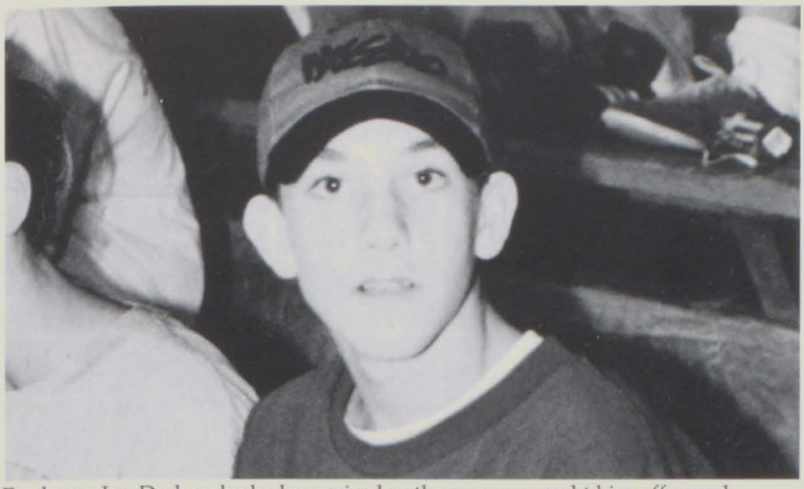




"Gotcha!"
-(Freshmen Jon Wilson and Colin Deschamps)

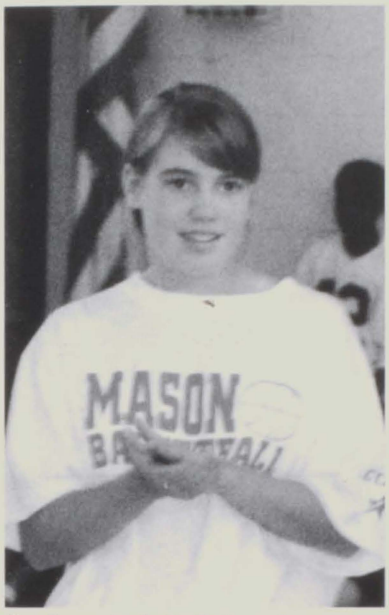
Carla Naupari and Kelly Maynard enjoyed band practice with Ms. Hersey.

Finally finding a time to chat, Freshmen Jessica Slaton, Susan Forester, Kendra Smith, Karen Ray, Kerry Lutz and Rory Miller enjoyed each other's company.



Freshman Jon Dodson looked surprised as the camera caught him off guard.

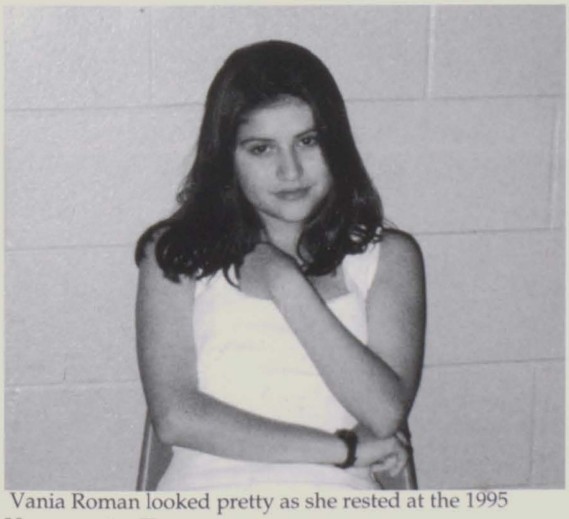
Rebecca Robinson stepped out into the cafeteria for a leisurely lunch of Pizza Hut pizza.



Freshman basketball player Lauren Lewis, got ready for the season at the first pep rally of the year.

As these newcomers entered high school, they discovered new challenges and opportunities. The Freshmen encountered more homework and a need to budget their time more wisely. Most used the first quarter to make their adjustments. The transition was successful! As the year progressed, they were accepted as official high schoolers by the upperclassmen.

Valerie Susen looked attentive as she listens to someone "out of the picture."



Vania Roman looked pretty as she rested at the 1995 Homecoming Dance.

Baseball

The George Mason Baseball Team's season was very successful last year. They came within one game of making post-season play. They had a new coach--Tom Horn. Both as a team, and as individuals, all learned more about the game of baseball from Coach Horn than any coach the team has had before. He made the team members work hard and motivated them to improve their baseball skills. There was much more team enthusiasm than there had been last year!
People were excited to play and ready to win.
The season was definitely a positive one.

Tennis

Guys Tennis:
The 1995 Tennis season was bitter-sweet. The Guys Tennis Team make it to the state tournament for the 9th year in a row, but were unfortunately were denied the state title. Initially, the team was in danger. Only Marlin Kann and Joffrey Infante were returning members from the 1994 season. Fortunately, Juniors Chris Lutz and Franklin Day, and Sophomores Willie Gross and Alex Kogut filed the open roles. Mason defeated rival Clarke County with ease and went undefeated in district play. A strong nucleus is returning for next season.

Girls Tennis:
Last spring the Women's Varsity Tennis Team had yet another spectacular season, barreling their way through the District and Regional to eventually become State Runners Up. The Team was led by Sophomore Sarah Romer at number one with more seasoned veterans providing support in the lower positions. Another highlight of the season was the success of doubles team Erin Avots and Riara Wilson, who battled past Regional competition to become the 3rd doubles team in the state.

TRACK:
The track seaon of spring 1995 brought many victories to the Mason track team. On May 11, the team competed successfully in the Bull Run District meet with the girls placing 3rd while the boys took 6th. Coach Harry Shovlin called it the girls' "winningest season ever"; the girls' team was victorious in every meet but one, and more Mason girls qualified for the Regional competition than ever before. Ten girls advanced to Regionals, along with three members of the boys' team. Out of those who made it to Regionals four girls made it to States in individual and relay events, while Alex Mejias was the only member from the boys' team to compete at States.

CROSS COUNTRY:
In autumn of 1995 the girls' team reached a pinnacle in the history of cross country running at George Mason. For the first time ever, the girls competed in the State competition as a team. The team placed 3rd overall. Having won most of their meets, the girls' team had placed 3rd in the District and Regional competitions. Of considerable impetus were Coach Lindgren's unconventional, and inspirational methods, which included his promise to shave his head should the girls' team qualify for States. For the boys' team the year was spent building up for next year. At Districts, the team competed valiantly but was unfortunately outpaced by the dauntingly outstanding competitors in the boys' race.

Football

After early season optimism, the George Mason football team struggled through another tough season. The team was surprised by a large turnout of kids going out for football during the summer, compared to the last few years where a minimum amount of kids had gone out. The team, for the most part, was young and inexperienced, but they still felt that if they played well enough it would be a successful year. Unfortunately, the lack of experience cost the team in many games, but their mistakes on the field were used as a learning tool in practice for the young team.

A bright point for the Mustang team was a 42-0 victory over arch-rival Central in their last home game. The team was led by three-year starters: Chris McCall, Michael Greene and Bryan Kestell. Kestell had a successful year at both running back and defensive back. Michael Greene once again threw for over 1,000 yards this season and spear-headed the defense, playing linebacker most of the year. Chris McCall broke many records this year as wide receiver, including the most receptions in a season in the 1990s in Northern Virginia, along with single-season records in receptions and yards and career school records in receptions and yards. The team looks foward to a more successful season next year.

With an underclassmen dominated team this year, the girls had a strong season to continue the successive improvement of the girls soccer program. The season was highlighted by defeating arch-rival Flint Hill both home and away, a feat never accomplished by the team until this year. Standout players included veteran Senior goalie Tessa Maish, for defense and offense, and Sophomore foward Lisa Grimm who had a remarkable 17 goal season total.

Second year coach Kriste Fedor utilized the entire team to play well against challenging competition, including key Junior defenders Vanessa Barber and Anna Resnick. Although losing a total of three Seniors: Erica Knight, Claudia Crowell and Tessa Maish, the girls are excited for next season to improve upon the 1995 season record.

The Girls JV Soccer Team held a successful season this year with a 6-4-0 record. This years team was full of both newcomers and returning players along with a new coach, Stephanie Young, who bonded quickly with skills and cooperation for a hardworking and fun season.

Boys Soccer

1995 was another year at the top of the crowd for Mason soccer. Coming off an undefeated season in '94, the Mustangs once again waltzed through their games without a loss. However, last year's rivalry with the Heights, which culminated in a Mason victory in the Tri-State championship game, meant the end of a streak in '95. After tieing twice in the regular season, the Mustangs advanced in the playoffs to meet the Heights once again in the Tri-State championship game. Despite playing with ten players and an emergency goalie for the entire second half of the game, Mason only allowed the Heights to score twice. They lost the game though, 1-3.

This year's team was most likely the best in Mason history. The team was ranked 3rd best team in the entire Metropolitan area. Senior mid-fielder Matt O'Connor was named district players of the year as well as first team All-Met. First team all-district players included Junior Eric Deschamps, and Seniors Leo Paixao and Alex Mejias. Unfortunately the team will be losing four vital starting Seniors, Matt O'Connor, Leo Paixao, Nelson Valencia and Alex Mejias. The team will also be losing their coach, Arturo Jimenez,who was named Tri-State Coach of the Year.

This year's varsity team was unlike any other team, not only because of what the George Mason Girls Basketball Team accomplished in terms of wins and losses, but in terms of unity and togetherness. The 17 weeks of the season were filled with more than just intense basketball. It included a lake retreat, midnight outings, sleepovers and, of course, the unforgettable trip to Salem. Although the girls did not accomplish their ultimate dream of winning the State Championship, their dream of making it to Salem came true through their hard work, determination, and dedication. They did not need a first place trophy to know that they were the best Group A team in the State of Virginia.

Cheerleading

The George Mason Cheerleaders began their incredible year in July when they won two Second place trophies at a summer camp. They followed this achievement by placing First in the Universal Cheerleaders Association Regional Competition and qualified for National Competition. While juggling a hectic schedule of games and practices, the cheerleading squad was able to put together a routine which gave them Fourth Place in the nation at the Orlando, Florida National Competition. As a team of only seven, the George Mason Cheerleaders have proven to themselves and to the rest of the nation via ESPN that they could hang with the best.

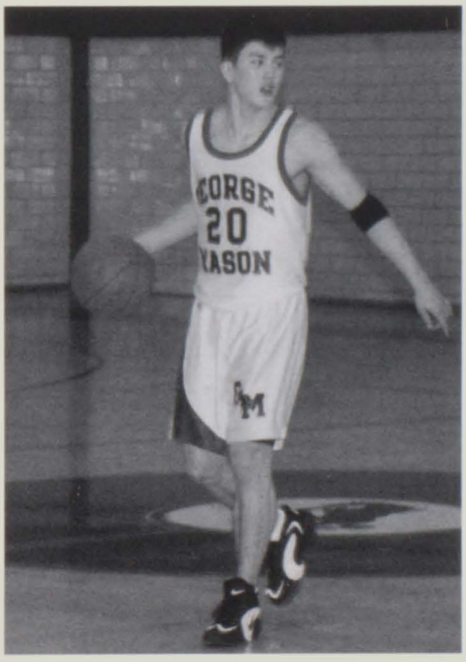
The George MasonVarsity Boys Basketball Team enjoyed a successful season under a new head coach Bill Sweek. The team finished Third in the District with a record of 11-5. Bringing a lot of experience from College and European basketball, Sweek raised the level of play of his team in the highly competitive Bull Run District. Most of the Mustangs success this year was due to their strong outside game. Highlighting this was Senior Point Guard Michael Greene's school record breaking 55 3-pointers. Throughout the majority of the season the Mustangs held First place in the District. One of the more exciting games of the season came against Clarke County at home. Down by one in the final seconds Junior Eddie Jordan caught a pass from Michael Greene and hit a 3-pointer at the buzzer to win the game.

Even though the Mustangs lost a heart breaker in overtime to Stonewall Jackson in the first round of District Playoffs, the Boys Basketball Team overcame seemingly insurmountable obstacles to complete an unforgettable season.

The JV Basketball Team also had a successful season under Coach Dave Garrison finishing 11-8 overall. Leading the way for the JV team were Sophomore veterans Mathias Pollock and Jonathan Florance.



Point guard Eddie Jordan motioned for his team to set up the offense.

Volleyball

Despite having few players come out for the team this year, Mason Volleyball had a relatively propitious season, with a record of 6-10. First year volleyball player, Michele Wilson, proved an excellent addition to the team, making second Team All District. Senior Julie Noone also showed her valor and potent skills by being named to third Team All District as a setter. Fourth and fifth year veterans Tate Pannabecker and Tessa Maish also contributed greatly to the Mustangs six wins. Even though they had many outstanding players, they were limited by fatigue; they only had one substitution. However, there is hope for the future in the JV Team.

The JV Team had over twenty players and finished second in the district with a record of 12-5. They unfortunately lost the District Championship to Central. Their success can be attributed to great individual plays by Kristy Keyes, Rebekah Wolfe, Jamie Spear and Melissa Shin.

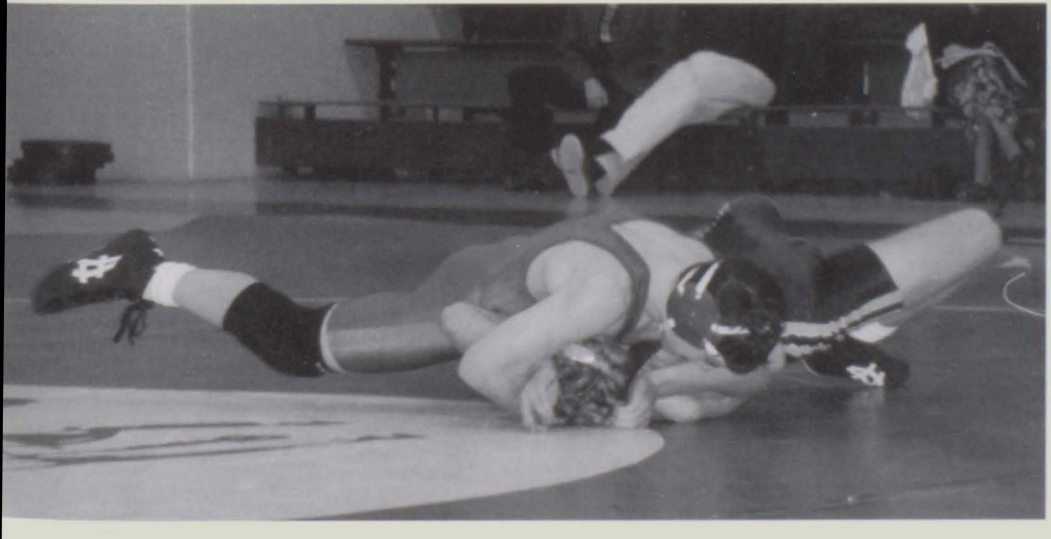
The George Mason Wrestling Team had an excellent season, considering that all of the weight classes were not filled. The Mustangs lost many points due to forfeits, yet still were able to finish 4-8. Senior and Junior Co-captains Jody Fellows and Eric DesChamps led the way for the team at 145 and 152 lbs respectively. They both placed Second in the Districts along with Jason Daube and Brad Guckenberger. Also, Gurvinder Bhangu placed Fourth against the group of district opponents which included State Champions--Brentsville.

Congratulations to the team and Coach Mark Fredenburg for their hard work and dedication throughout the season. WAY TO GO MUSTANGS!!



Freshman sensation Brad Guckenburger drove his opponent into the mat for the win.

A League of Their Own

Junior Lorraine Evans rode Chase the Breeze on a very cold and snowy February morning.

Junior Katie Volpe posed with her horse, Kyrie, before a show.

Many students participated in sports outside of the school during the year. Activities ranged from soccer to bungee-jumping, and from croquet to the ever popular horseback riding. Even when it was cold and snowy, these dedicated athletes found the motivation to compete. Students demonstrated their athletic abilities and diverse talents in participating in these events. A great deal of time and effort was expended in these sports and students are to be commended for their outstanding out-of-school accomplishments.

Wild man Franklin Day, having sped through the course, waited for the other Seniors to come down the Double Black Diamond Run.

Seniors David (Julio Cesar) Chaves, Franklin Day, Jody Fellows and Darren Robertson posed for the camera while taking a break from sking at Whitetail.

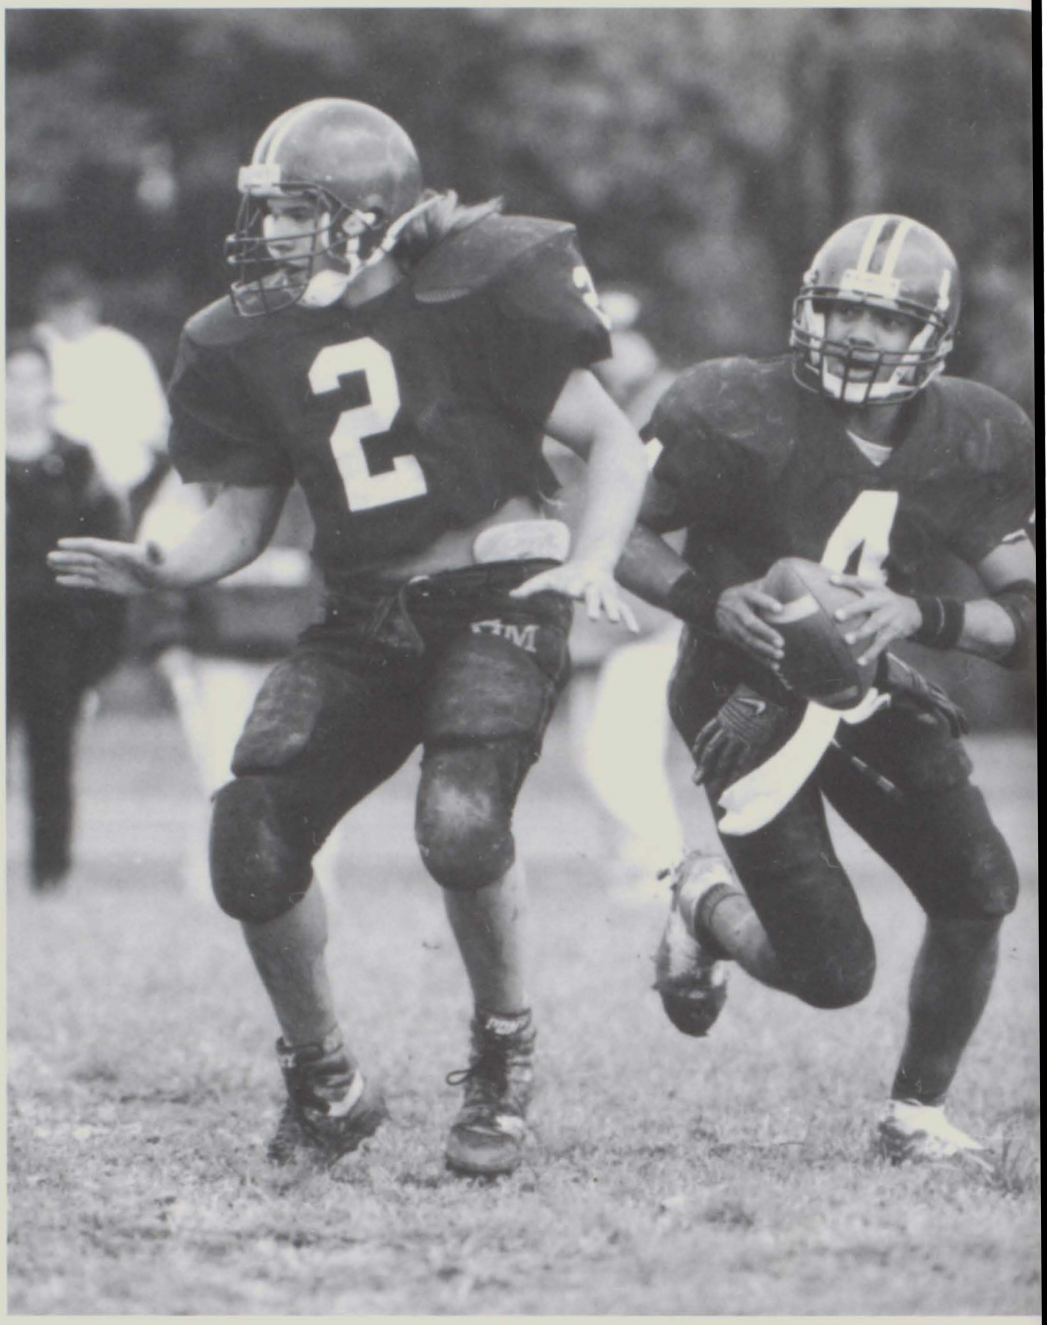
At 4 years of age, Clara Della Queva's horse DiMaggio thought, "I don't think I want to do this at tomorrow's competition!"

Defending the ball, Denise Horacek played with her select team, the Arlington Strikers, determined to make the play.

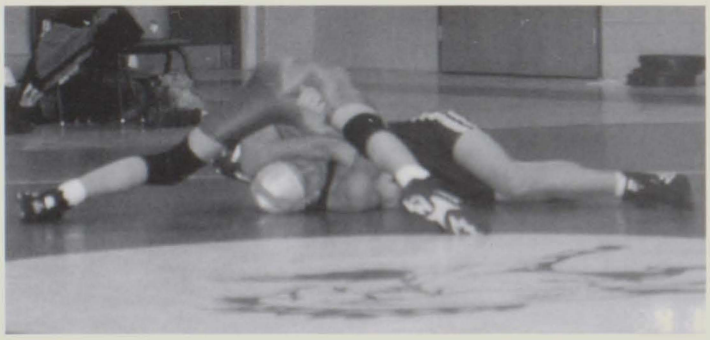
George Mason representatives in the 1995 Trans-Atlantic Championship Croquet League--James Evans, Ben Bowers and Charles Bowers, won the prestigious event.

Anna Resnick and her horse Motley sailed over a cross-country jump at a tournament.

Captain Michael Greene looked downfield as Sophomore Damien Menu-Orsinger prepared to block.



Senior girls Erica Knight, Tessa Maish and Claudia Crowell were stacked with talent.



HELP!!

"DREAM SALEM!"

Junior Varsity Volleyball star, Kerry Lutz was congratulated by her teammates after a vicious spike.

Boys Varsity Soccer Coach Arturo Jimenez had a lot to smile about this successful year.

Softball standout Mary-Jeanne Cincotta demonstrated her excellent pitching ability.

"GOOAALLL!!!"

One of the most highly respected football coaches in the Bull Run District, Coach Tony Green resigned after this past season.

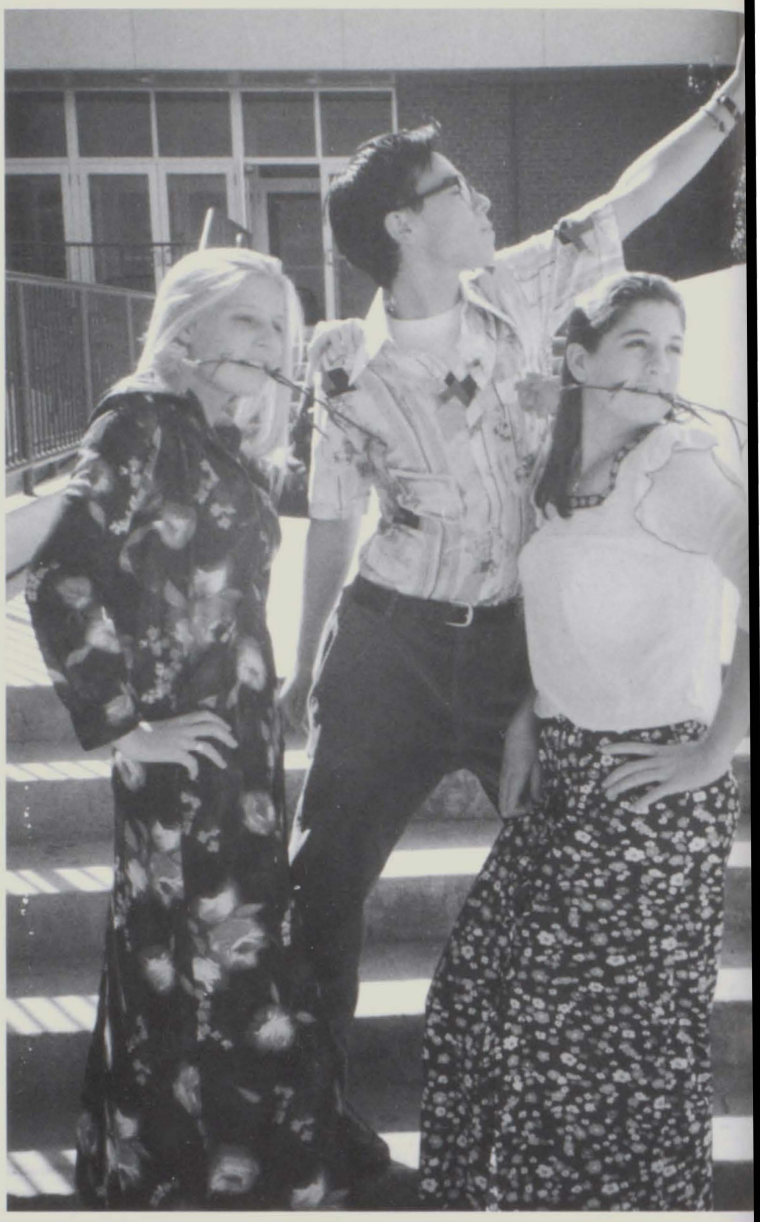
After practice the stars of the Ladies track team discussed strategies for the upcoming meet.

STUDENT LIFE

Seniors Greg Sharpe and Jenny Karro helped decorate the Senior hall by taping up one of the many peace men.

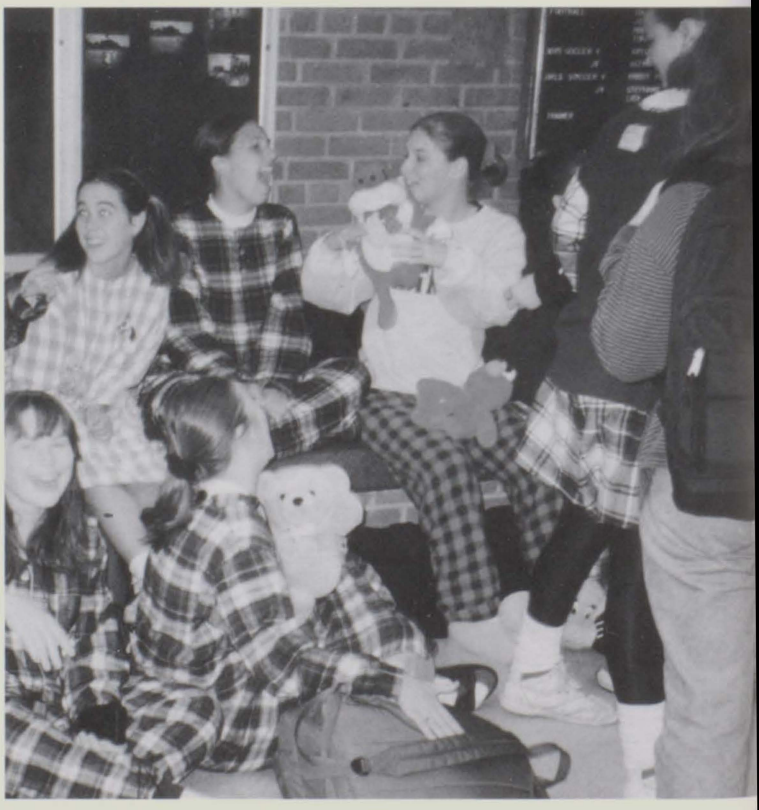
Preparing themselves for the Homecoming Disco Dance, Juniors Susy Yates, Christian Blood, and Maggie Kuhn showed their school spirit on 70's day by dressing up in their finest disco clothes.

Our basketball women Kyra Lukomski, Michele Wilson, Charissa Bautista, and Leigh Andrews cheered on the Varsity Football Team during the Homecoming Game.



Spirit Week 1995

Homecoming week was a time when everyone in the school got a little crazy in demonstrating their school spirit. Whether it was dressing up, decorating the halls, participating for spirit points or doing other silly/weird things, each class became more unified and thus, stronger! The Spirit Days were, Tie Day, Deja vu Day, Pajama Day, 70's Day and Red and White Day. The entire week concluded with Friday's Homecoming Pep Rally and Saturday's festivities--the fair, football game and the evening dance.



The entire Homecoming court was all smiles as they gathered together for a photo during the half-time activities after the crowning of the King and Queen.

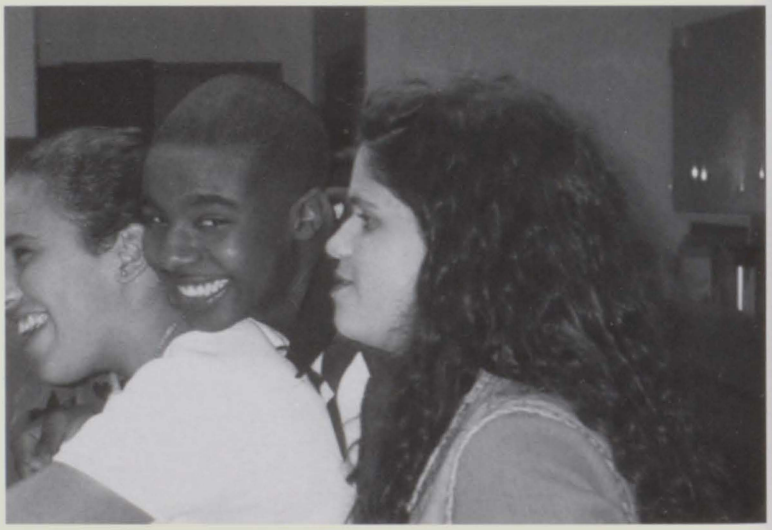
Senior Mary Jeane Cinncotta struck a pose and modeled her disco outfit on 70's day.

Kacie Gerard, Kristie Keyes, Katie Melson, Jaimie Spear and Lindy Singleton were a very spirited group of Sophomore girls seen here lounging around in their pajamas before school started.

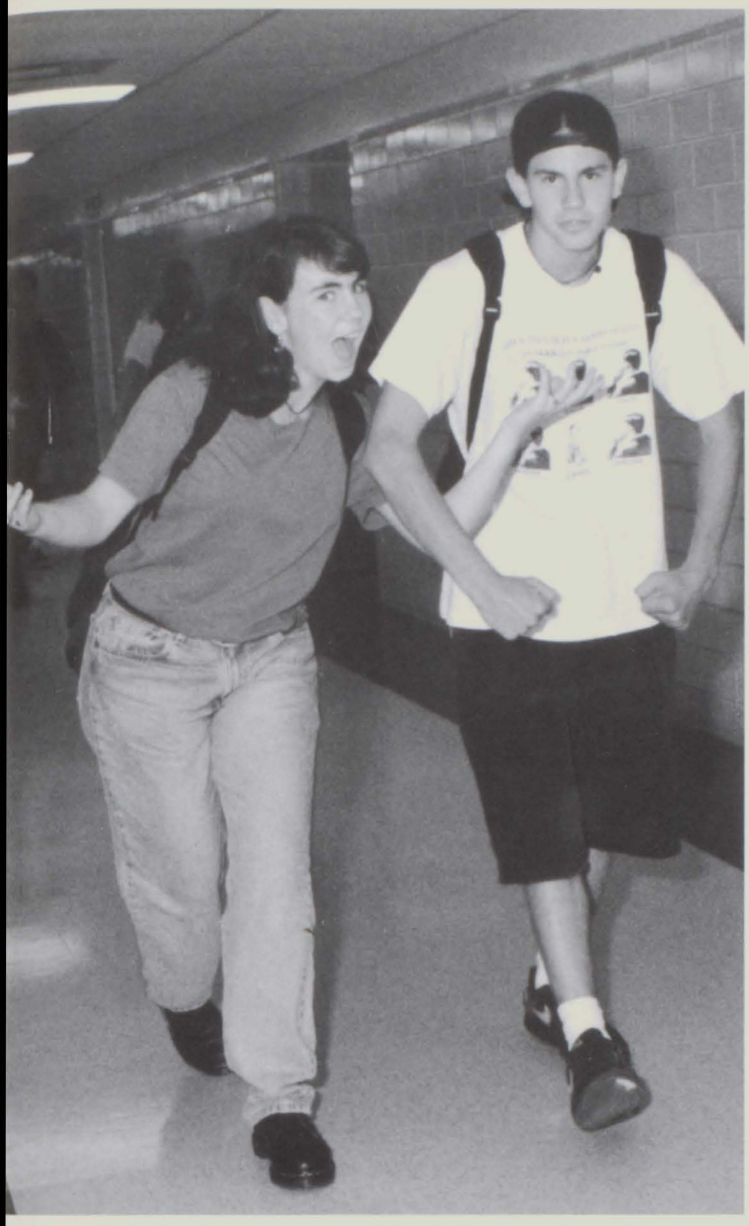
Andrew Lowe, Josh Small, Maggie Olson, Tim Smith and Scott Ratliff were just chilling one day on the soccer field.

Friends Allison Burfield and Esther Lim take a break after a long day.



Junior Sam Stotts is always surrounded by ladies Carolina Espinal, and Gabriela Yaselli.

Friends are always good for big hugs at the end of a long day! Vanessa Barber and Steve Williams enjoyed a friendly embrace.



Senior Heidi Harrington and Junior Simon Van Steyn always get a sudden rush of energy when the bell rings at the end of the day.

Spirited Sophomores Amy Tierney and Katie Melson became close friends through the bonded cheerleading team.

"I'll be there for you" --Friends for life.

Friends at Mason are friends for life. Our small size ensures that every one has an opportunity to meet and greet the entire school community. Friends here spent time together in the halls and at various activities offered after school. One of the privileges is seeing those who have been the best of friends since preschool through high school. Sometimes the only thing that can help you survive through the rigors of Academics is a good friend!

Brothers Eric and Colin DesChamps showed different reactions to the photographer.

Ben and Charles? Charles and Ben Bowers?

James and Tom Moody pulled a Freaky Friday on Mason students, by switching personalities for a night.

Double the Fun-- Siblings

Sister and brother Madina and Seeno Merobshoev smiled enthusiastically for the camera.

With the plethora of twins and triplets at GM, sometimes the halls looked like a Doublemint gum commercial. Of course, all brothers and sisters at Mason shared a special bond. They were often seen consorting on campus, sharing secrets and helping each other out. When you felt like the world was on your shoulders, there was nothing like the listening ear of a close brother or sister.

Tim Sharpe: Greg! Here's your jacket!
Greg Sharpe: Tim, I told you never to acknowledge me during school!

The Deutsch twins, Chris and Ben, were always seen together.

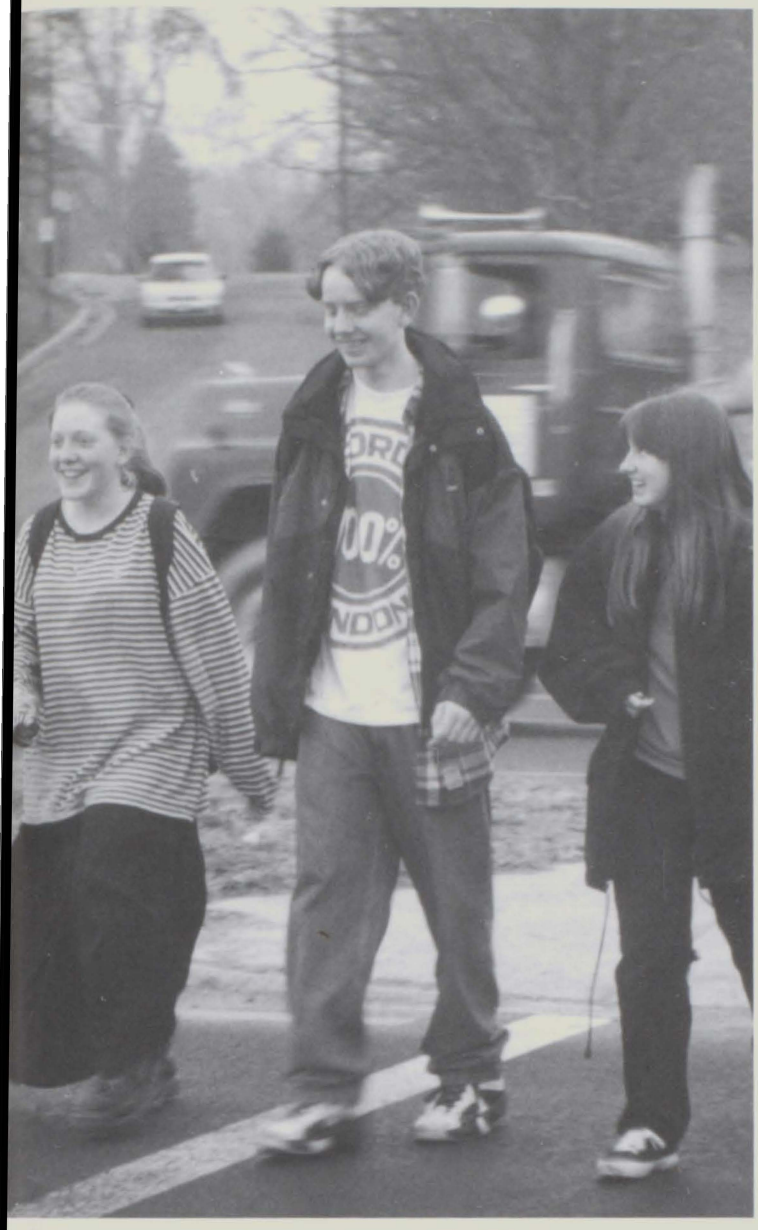
Junior Laura Sweeny lent a helping hand to her younger sister, Freshman Erin Sweeny.

Tisza, Stephen, and Peter Nagy discussed daily events over lunch.

Junior Jason Ferrari was often in the parking lot after school with these Junior girls and their matching cars.

After a long tiring day of school, Junior Marian Weber threw her bags in the back of her Volvo and headed home.

The Yates and Kuhns posed for a picture in front of their treasured automobiles-- The King Cab and the Truck.



The Freshmen crowd would rather walk than ride the bus.

Oh no! There went the cheese wagon! Find a ride, walk home-- anything but that!

Lucky Junior Kathleen Kannapel had her older sister to drive to school with everyday.

Avoiding the Big Cheese!!!

"Thank God for my Tigger Mobile" replied Junior Nora Brew when questioned about her mode of transportation. A common feeling among Masonites was to avoid the school bus at all costs. When the bell rang at 2:45 p.m students rushed to find rides, friends to walk home with or their car keys. . . anything but the BIG CHEESE.

Students were often seen picking up their friends at Giant, or making plans.

Although Dr. Eisenhauer was new this school year, she easily became popular to the students--especially on the SCA retreat when she presented each student with a bag of candy.

After Ingrid Camacho and Leo Paixao arrived at our school, their school spirit was a great addition to our student body--especially at the basketball games.

Whoa!!! Who was that New Kid?

New faces were easy to spot at Mason. They added a twist of excitement to the school community. Most of us would die without new people to meet and greet. That was why Mason students were so eager to include new people in their activities. Several new people arrived as exchange students from our Sister School in Cochabamba. Some of their favorite activities included learning teachers' names and hanging out in the Mason Athletic Hall of Fame.

These four new guys, Tom and James Moody, Shaun Jayachandran, and Dragos Dascalu, were involved in many activities and quickly became a part of the George Mason community.

After only a month of attending George Mason High School, Junior Bendik Simonsen was elected as the Homecoming Court representative with Jaimi Fitzgerald.

Tom Erskine was just chillin' in Mrs. Meighan's English Class.

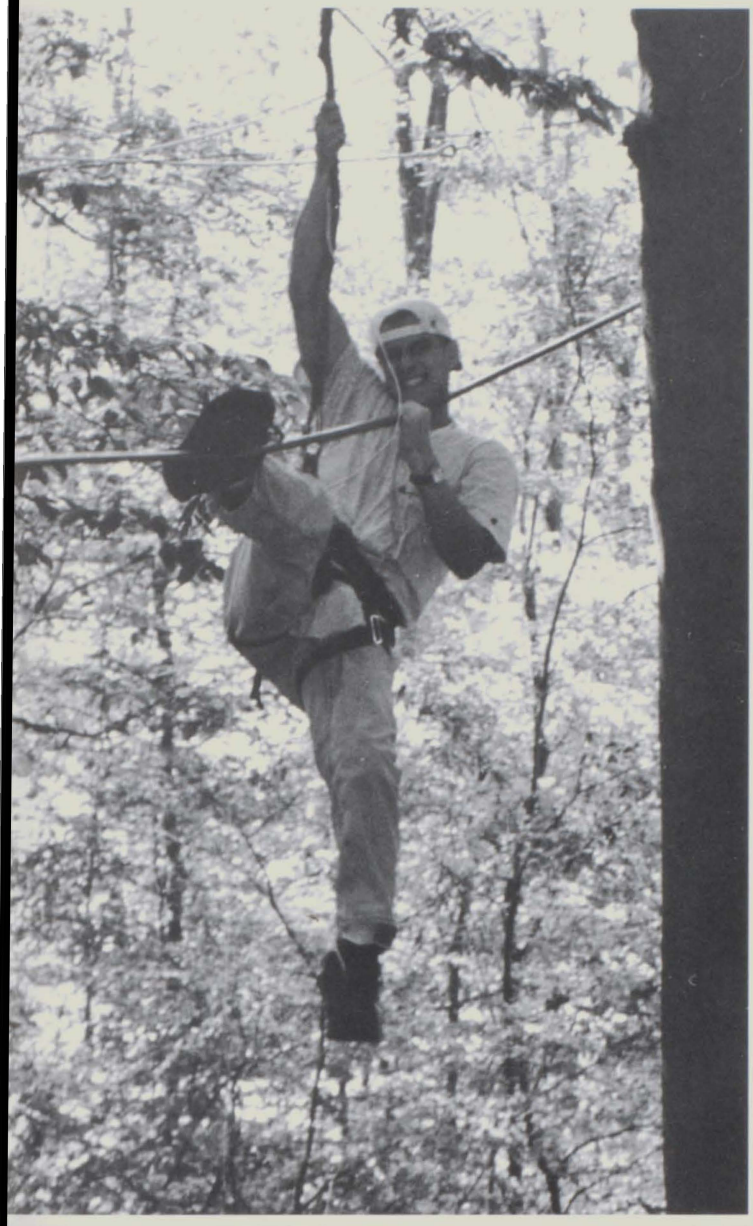
Taking a big bite out of the pumpkin was Senior Minh Dan Banh as he helped his group carve their pumpkin at the SCA retreat.

Jacob Gutierrez, Joe Moore, Marian Weber, Christina Pagano, and Kelly Maynard know that working together as a group was a big part of the SCA Retreat.

Nancy McElwain, Carolina Espinal, and Jordan Hamory took time out to catch up on the latest gossip.

"Would you hurry up and take the picture!" exclaimed Abigail Burroughs, Jordan Hamory, Chun Lee, and Jon-Michael Lemon.

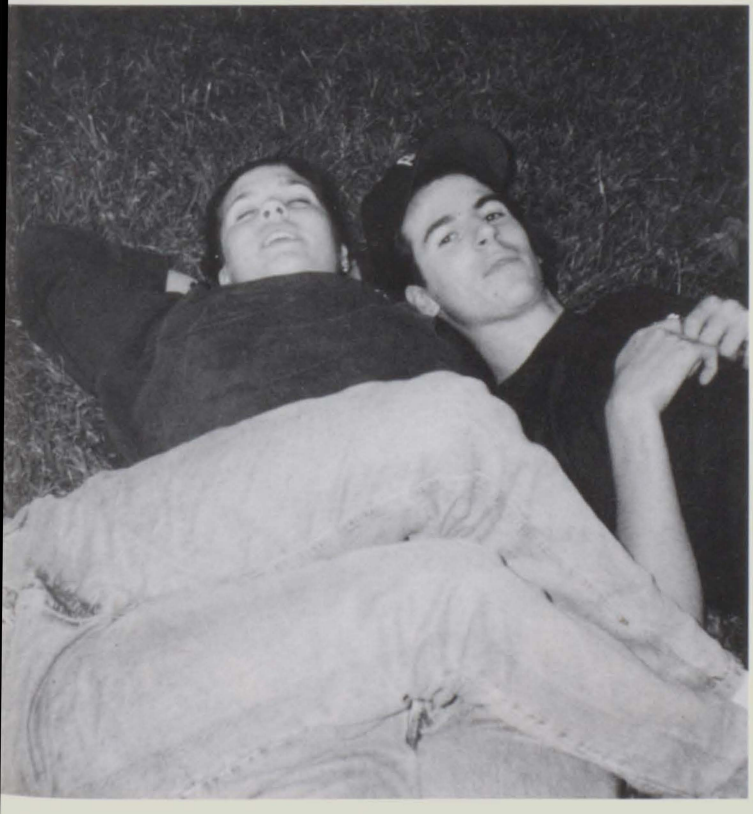
Star gazing was one of the many activities at the retreat. Good friends Franklin Day and Sarah Jackson found it quite relaxing.



Freshmen buddies Rory Miller and Kerry Lutz enjoyed the SCA retreat.

Senior Darren Robertson struggled with all his might.

Daniel Hardman, Ingrid Camacho, Maggie Kuhn, Robert Durham, and Margarita Bossa did a lot of brainstorming in their group.



SCA Retreat:

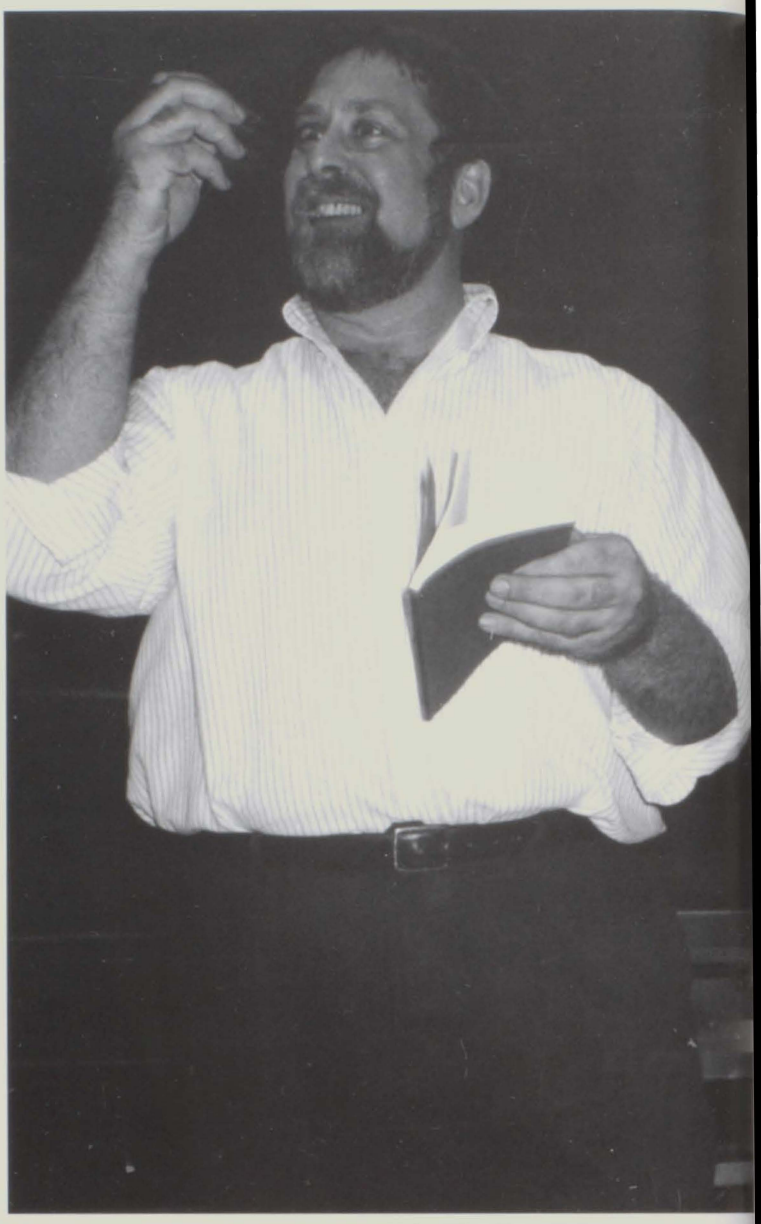
Keeping the school together

Ropes course, crazy games, volleyball, skits, and roasting marshmallows are just a small part of the annual SCA retreat. This year, dividing into teams, the competition was better than ever. An adventurous game of late-night Capture the Flag was played while the teams demonstrated previously learned skills such as the Commando Crawl.

Students from all grades contributed numerous ideas to help make the 95-96 school year the best ever. Once again it was a retreat full of fun and games and a lot of good planning for a successful year.

A Christmas Carol was directed by our lively Frank Marino.

Things were getting hot during practices for the play!



Charles Dicken's Wild Video Dance Party

"In the Spotlight"

The actors at George Mason High School were in abundance. It was obvious from their performances in Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat and A Christmas Carol that these students were very talented. Last spring in Joseph, the amazing talents were discovered in people such as Willie Gross, Jaimi Fitzgerald, Josh Small, Tim Sharpe and many others. Those who attended were impressed.

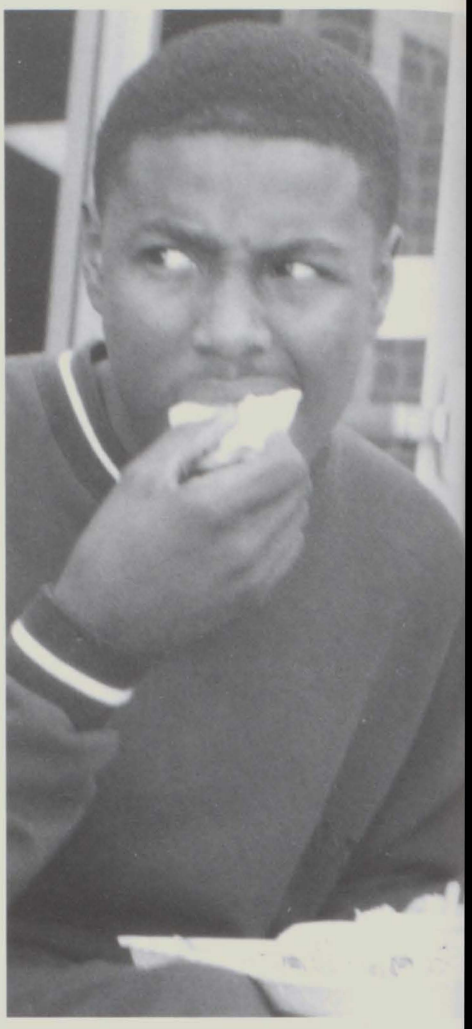
"It was a rip roarin', thrill ridin', extravaganza--two thumbs up!" said Senior Greg Sharpe when asked what he thought about this winter's performance, A Christmas Carol. Everyone who attended the show felt they got more than their money's worth. They were thrilled to be able to see the play.

Delora Parks, K.C. Atabaki, Sunrise Tippeconnic and Willie Gross had important parts in the winter play.

It is obvious that Josh Small playing Joseph enjoyed all the attention from these beautiful ladies: Lara Pierce, Melissa Hipolit, Shira Adriance, Cassie Lewis, Kacie Gerard, Amy Ngyuen, and Anna Resnick.

It was a rare treat to capture, not only the cast of Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dream Coat, but Natalie Wolfe and Michael Hoover, too.

Upon the conclusion of the play, Joseph, played by Willie Gross, embraced his father, played by Adam Edwards, in the scene that reunited his family.

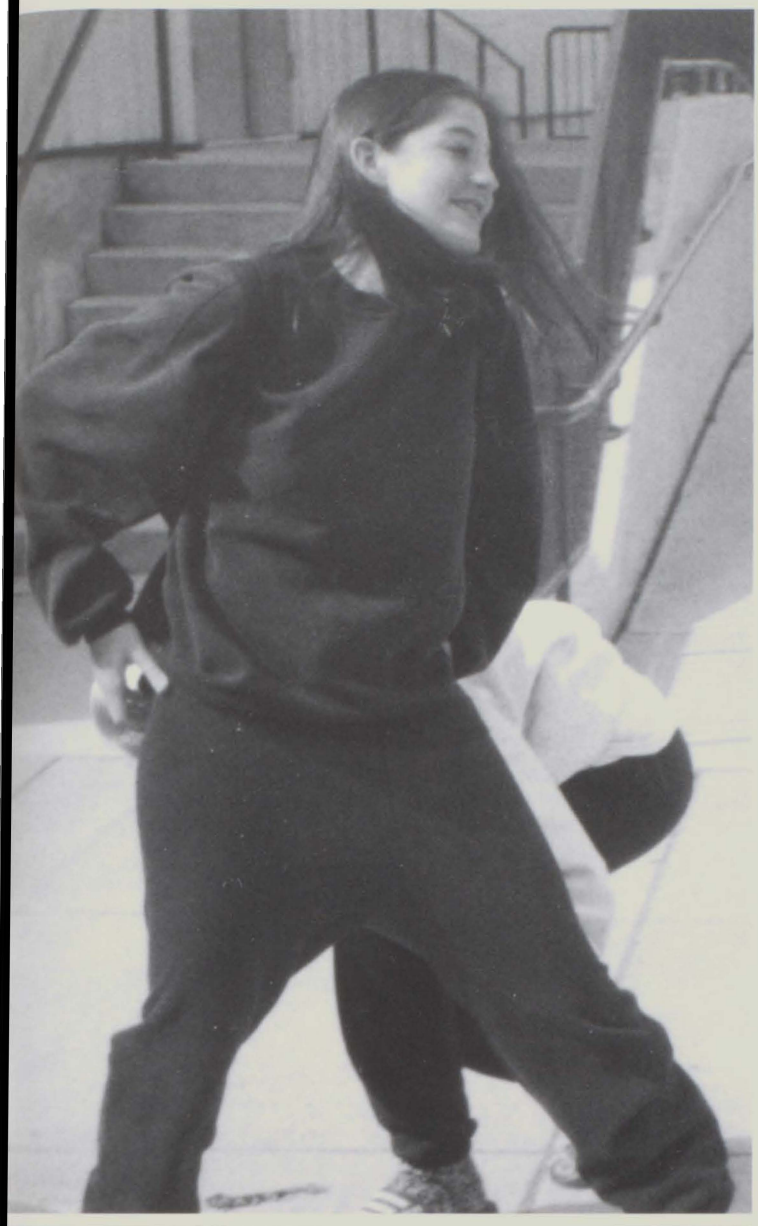


The Lunch Bunch! B.J. Bain, Erin McDonald and Randy McFarland. "I hate it when people watch me eat."

We related with Eric DesChamps.

There were no words to describe the facial expression of Freshman Jeremy Schutte during the Tug of war.

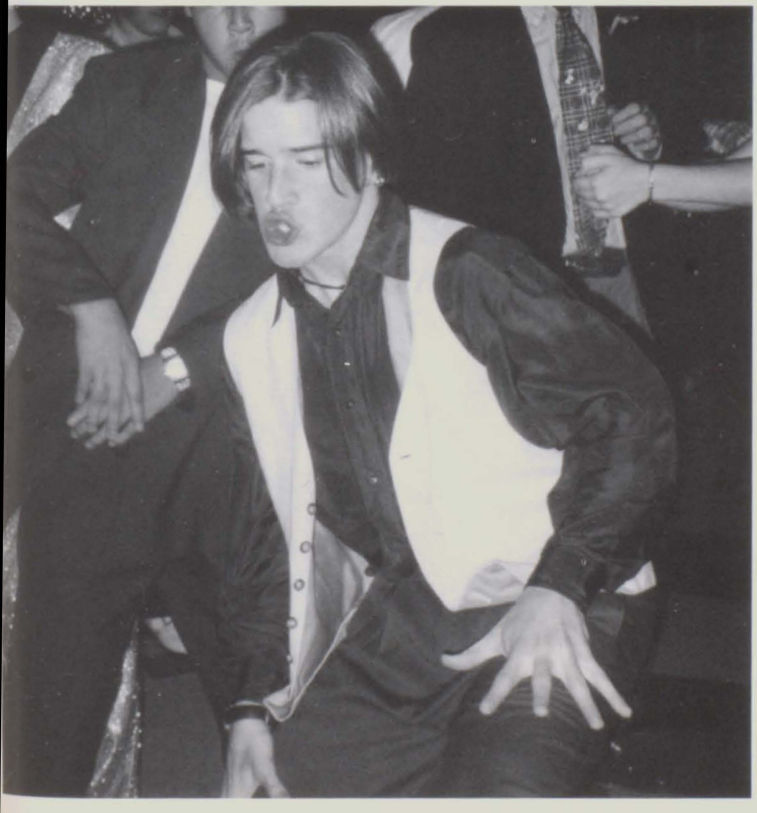
Junior Dan Winckler was never shy, especially on the dance floor. Great face!



At George Mason you always had to tie your draw-strings tight or else your pants would come down like Junior Maggie Kuhn's did!

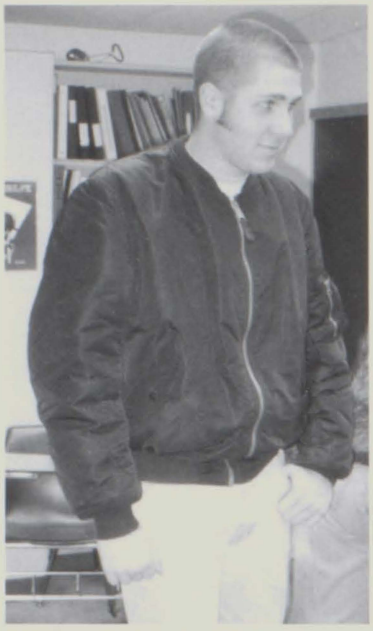
Freshman Jorge Angulo was constantly going after his classmates. Olivia Thomas was shown here!

"I never get in the yearbook except for my stupid class picture!"
-- Senior Mary Lancaster.



"GOTCHA"

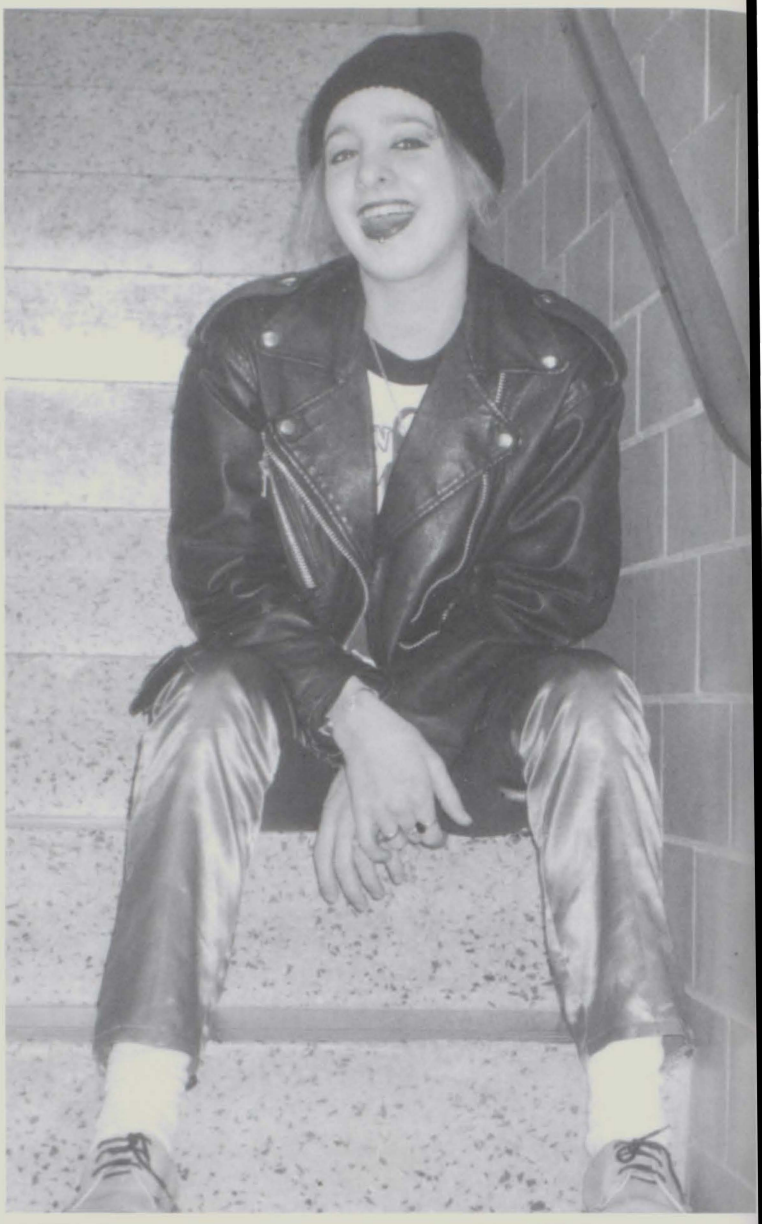
The camera was lurking everywhere this year, snapping pictures of students stuffing their faces, bad hair days, and being flagged. There were those pictures that nobody wanted in the yearbook and we took the liberty of putting them in! So be careful next time you make a funny face; it might be blown up and exposed to the entire school.



"Da Bomb"-- Damien Maree wore his bomber jacket.

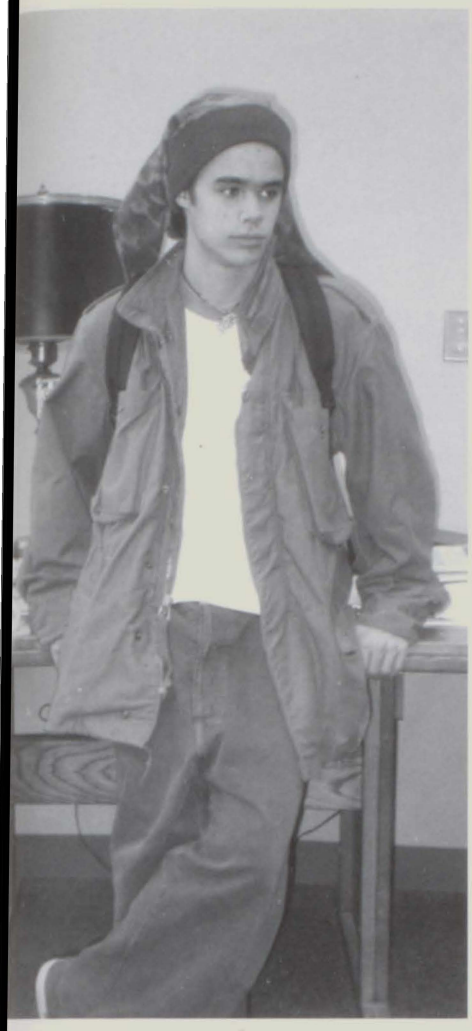
Winning the prize for the most original was Katie Eichorn sporting her tongue and eyebrow rings.

What was that bright light at the end of the hallway? No, aliens were not invading our school! It was just the glare off of Ania Sales' metallic jacket.



"We were too Sexy. . ."

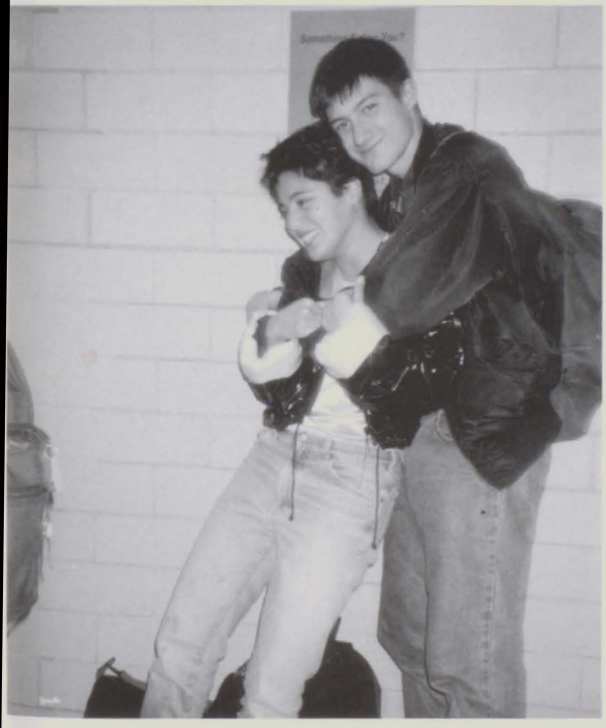
"Our hall was our own runway."-- said the students at George Mason as they came out in all sorts of crazy outfits! From shiny, metallic material, to soft flannel pajama pants, GM definitely had its own style. People used fashion to express themselves, show their originality, and to just have fun. Though there was always your basic jeans and a sweatshirt, George Mason was not lacking in those who loved to strut their stuff and use our school as a fashion show.



Modeling a latest style with floppy fleece ski cap was Senior John Cannon.

Who else could wear her sunglasses and crazy necklace in Biology except Monica Maish?

"My wardrobe is tight," said Damien Hartwell, just chillin' and relaxin' in the hall way.



Mary Jeanne Cincotta enjoyed coordinating styles of shiny tops with jeans, while fellow Senior John Waszilycsack enjoyed a tee-shirt and jacket with jeans.

These girls may have gotten some stares when they wore their most original outfits.

Sportin' the relaxed look was Freshman Shala Fardaei. There were always those who felt comfort was the most important thing.

It took "More Than Words" to describe the performance of Joe Wiley, Megan Sommers and Mandy Lucas.

Surprise!!!!

After a hilarous performance by an aspriring comedian, Sunrise Tippeconnic was ready to take on "Saturday Night Live."

"He's so cute!" exclaimed all the girls in the audience when they saw Matt Hibbard playing the guitar.

Greg Sharpe surprised everyone with his talent in Musical Poetry.

Our amigo, Matt Curtis strummed "Surprise."

"What if God were one of us?" . . . wondered Juniors Megan Washam and Amy Nguyen.

JV Show

It was tradition for the Junior Class to sponsor the Junior Variey Show for two consecutive nights. Unfortunately, due to weather conditions, the nights were spread apart by a week.

Set for the nights of Feburary 1 and 2, the show's first performance was on Thursday (Feb.1) to what co-host Dan Winckler called a "rough audience." On its second night, a week later (Feb. 9), the show proved to be a larger success, despite the large time gap.

Acts such as acoustic guitar, vocal, and piano solos, comedy routines and bands put the 'variety' back in Junior Variety Show.

The improv comedy schtick of co-hosts Winkler and Sunrise Tippeconnic complimented the evening with an exciting flurry of raillery and amusement.

"I was very impressed with the show," commented Senior Sarah Jackson. Many of the performers thought it was a little rough because it was too rushed, even with the span of time inbetween. Judging by the crowd response to the weather-altered show, it was a well-spent evening.

THE COPY WAS TAKEN WITH PERMISSION FROM THE FEBURARY 16, 1996, ISSUE OF LASSO, VOLUME XLIII, ISSUE 5. WRITTEN BY DAVID WELLS AND SUNRISE TIPPECONNIC.

John Waszilycsak demonstrated. . . . Well, you figure it out!

Juniors Lorena Angulo and Annie Lincoln had no trouble finding ways to have fun at school.

Goofing Off!

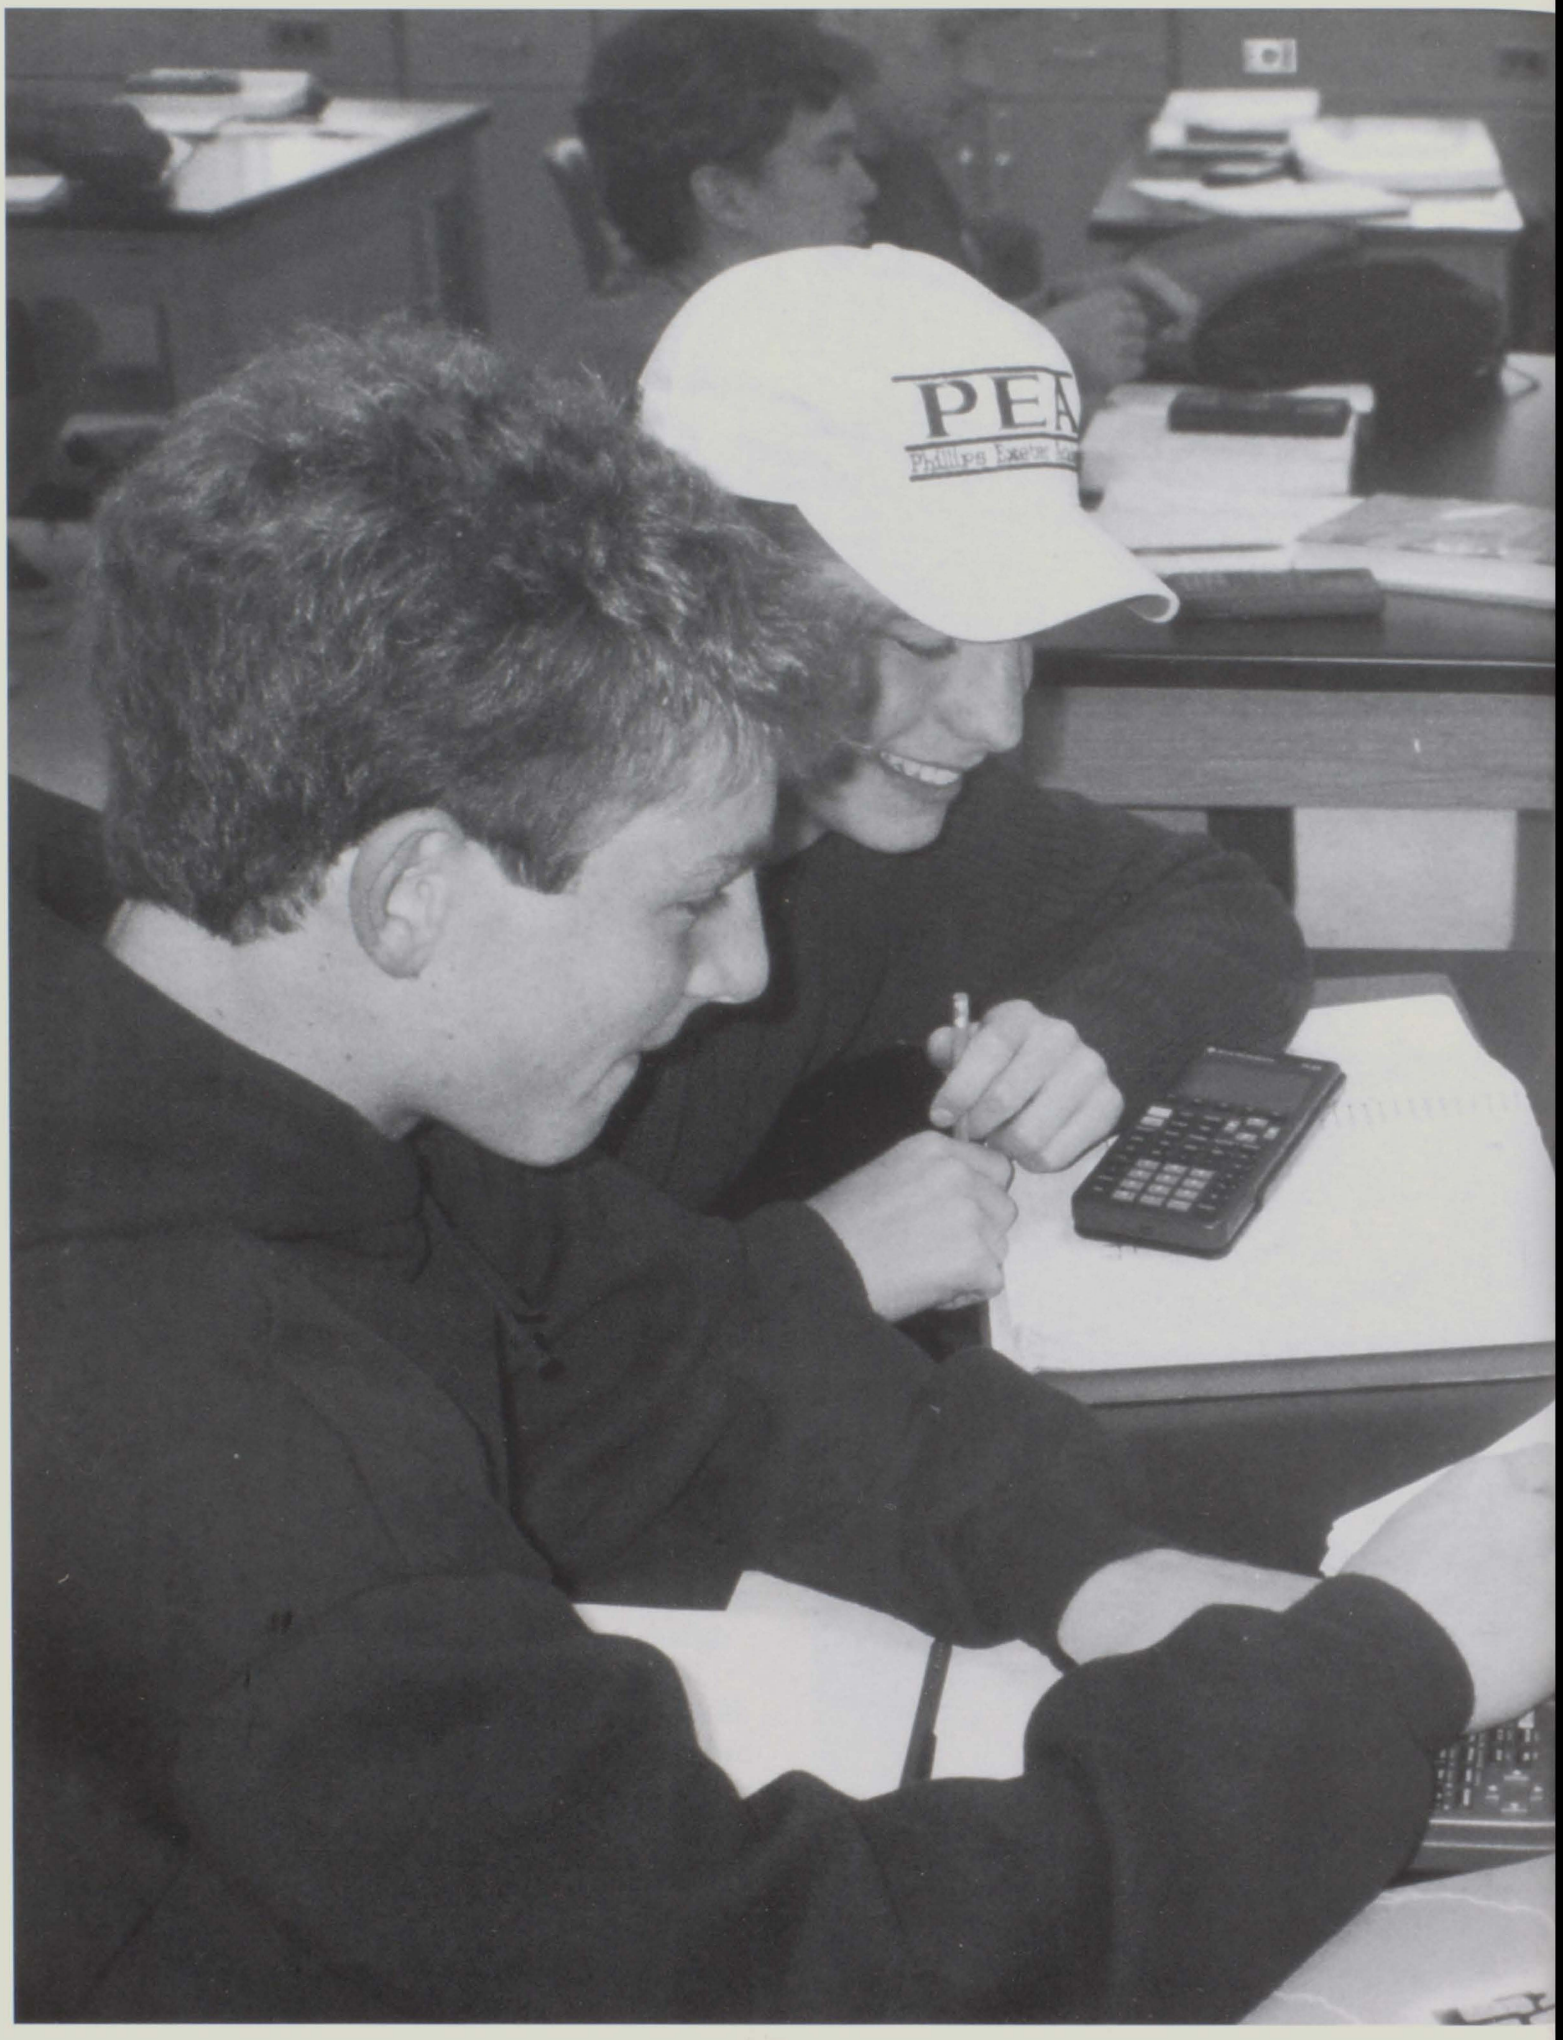
Desperate times call for desperate measures! With the tough array of classes offered at Mason, students needed time to blow off steam. The five minutes in between classes gave GM's finest comedians time to strut their stuff. Seniors led the charge, playing practical jokes and pranking, in order to leave their mark on the school. The hilarious stunts provided prime entertainment for those involved in the rigors of school work. So sit back, relax, and enjoy the frenzy!

During lunch, Matt O'Connor and Emilio Mestre found a way to release their energy on the Senior Courtyard's grassy knoll.

Good friends, Stacey Brown and Jenny Zimmerman, always found a way to "goof off."

Senior Claudia Crowell helped Sophomore Denise Horacek off the field after an injury.

Only Juniors Leslie Day and Sarah Romer could be found doing "airplane" in the middle of the hall. Sophomore Damien Hartwell also joined these two crazy girls.

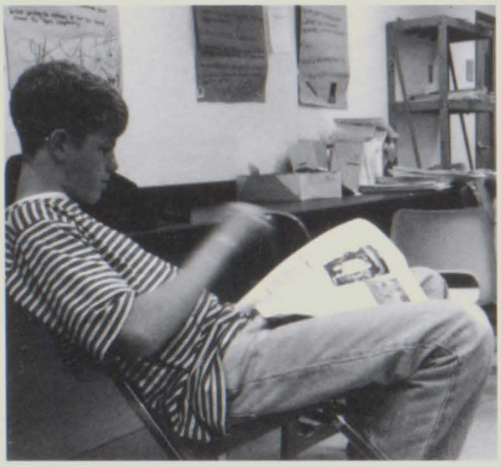


PEA

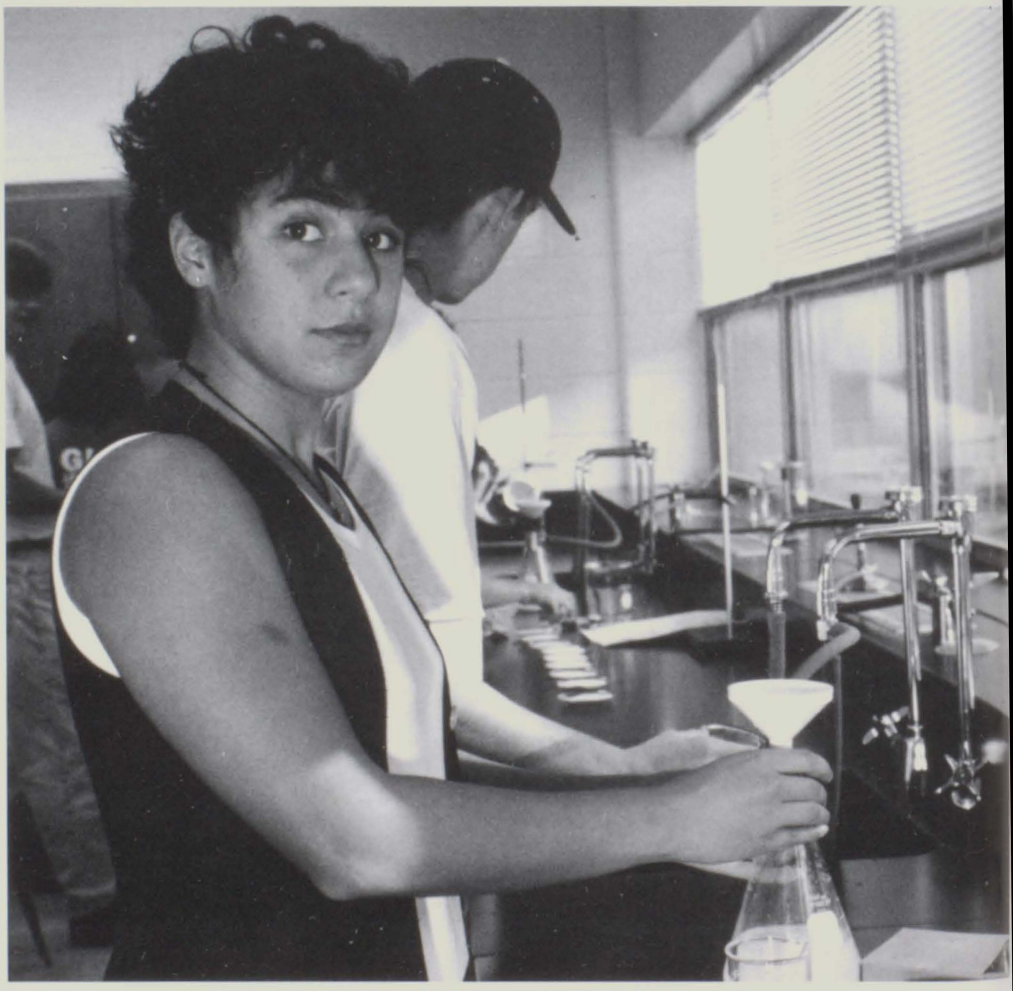
ACADEMICS

Paving the Academic Pathway to Our Future Plans

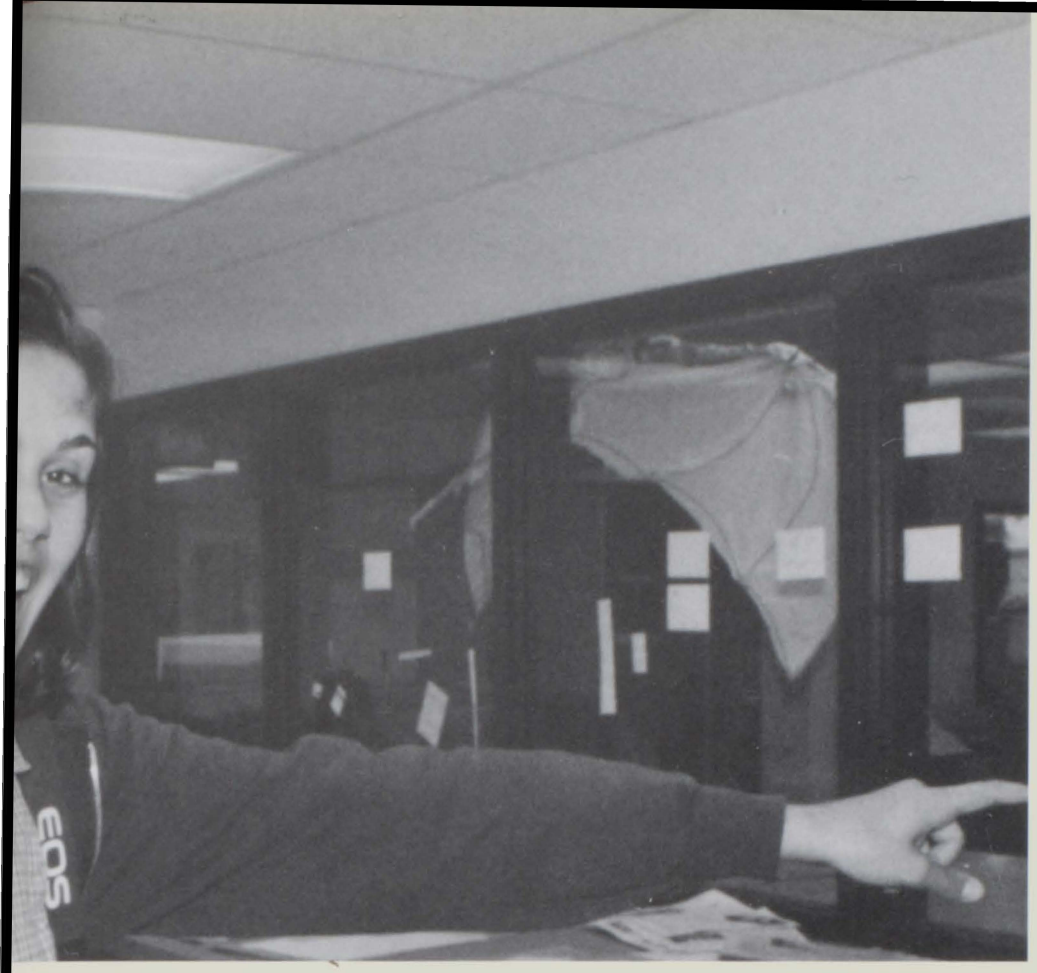
7:45 a.m. The familiar look of tired faces, from doing homework the night before, could be seen as everyone moved slowly toward the first class of the day. George Mason was notorious for its high academic standards. Students could often be seen hyperventilating in the hallways-- both before and after tests! Oddly enough many students claimed that they liked the pressure that was imposed on them by parents, teachers and other faculty. The to ugh courses prepared students for college and jobs in the real world.



Damon Burk admired his own work in the Lasso.

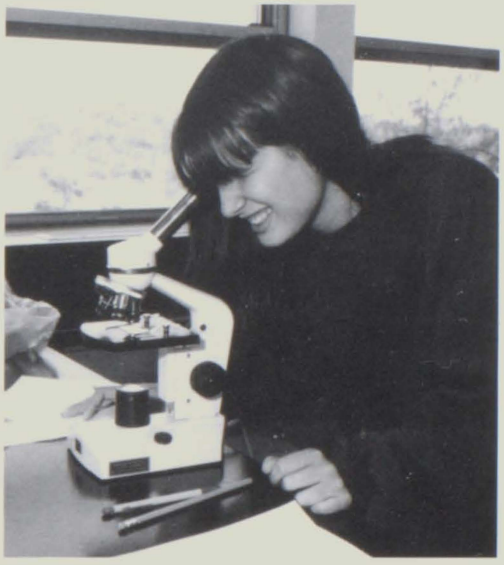


"Am I doing this right?" asked Mary Jeanne Cincotta.

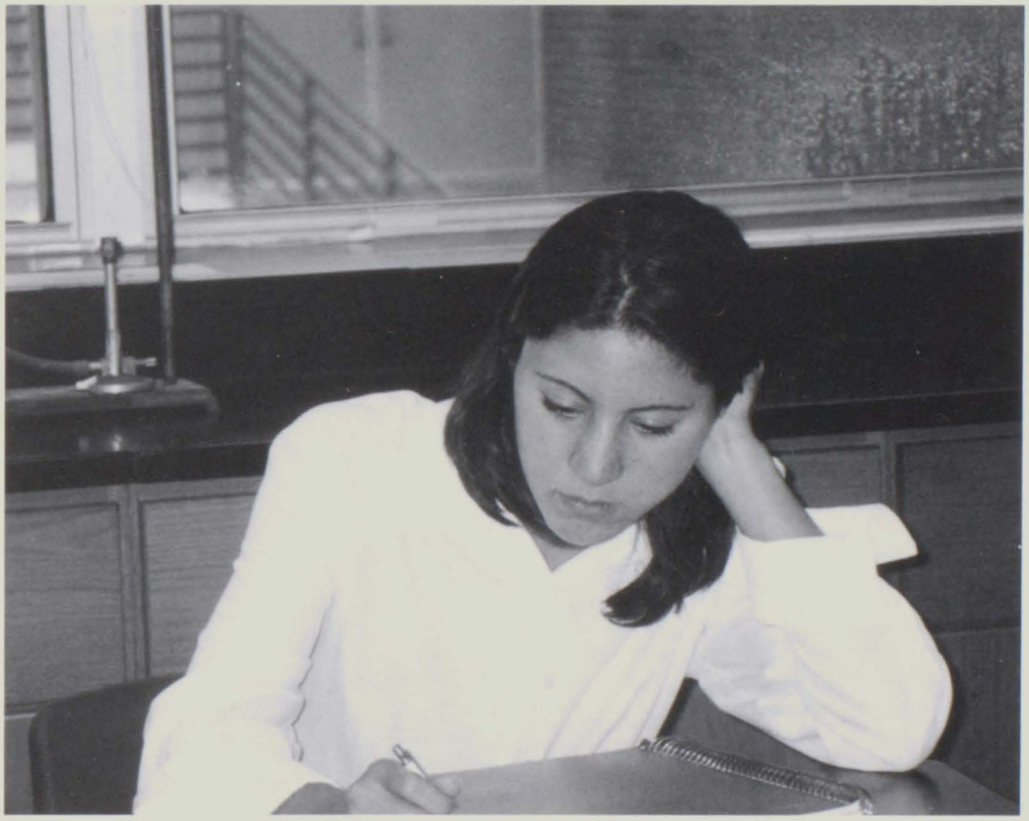


Sarah Jackson was one of the more enthusiastic students at George Mason.

"Wow! I have discovered a new life form!" said Jenny Zimmerman with joy.



Greg Ristow, an accomplished musician of the Trumpet, French Horn and Piano, was a true asset to our school band.

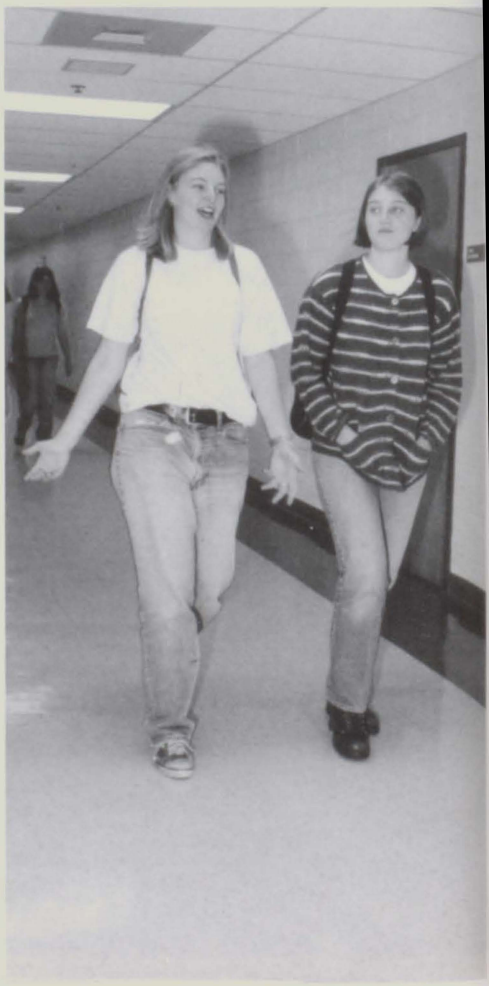


"Wake up, Angela!"

In history Katie Kuhn and ArLita Marshall, were always putting their heads together.

Ewww!
-- Erin McDonald

Carolina Espinal exhibited her usual and happy smile in class.



"As if!" stated Tate Pannabecker. Julie Noone nodded in agreement.

Alex Capozio and Josh Hagedorn were ready with some answers after their reading assignment in Mrs. Albright's World Civ. class.

Never leave home without your calculator--
David Wells surely didn't.

"Whoa, this is fun!" exclaimed
Paul Zelensky

The "Wise Fool" -Sophomores

"No longer freshmen,
we go back to school.
With one year behind us,
We're finally cool.

We'll step on the freshmen and yield to the rest.
We know where we stand,
(but we know we're the best.)

We'll roll with the punches
"wise fools" is our claim.
Our experience is mounting to kindle the flame.

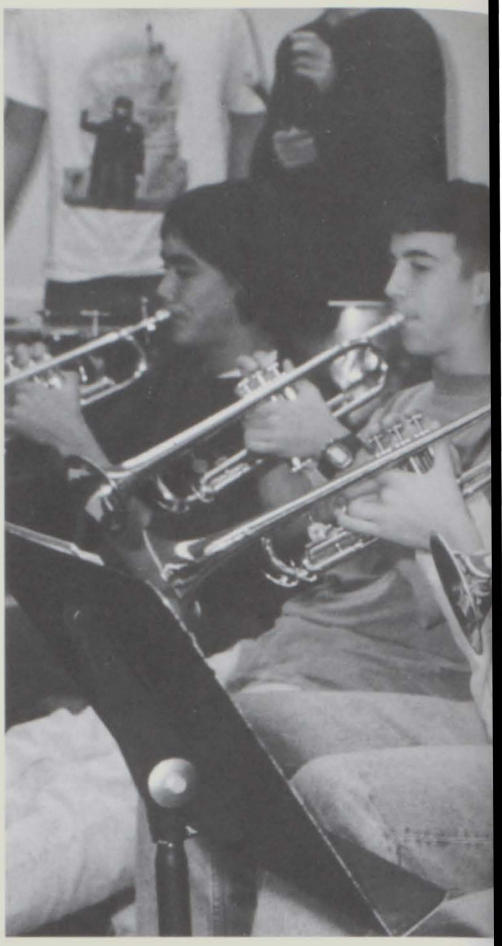
So don't overlook us,
we're still going strong.
We're gonna be Seniors
-- it won't be too long."



"I love this class!"
says Eli Resnick with glee.
As he was learning about the fam-i-ly.

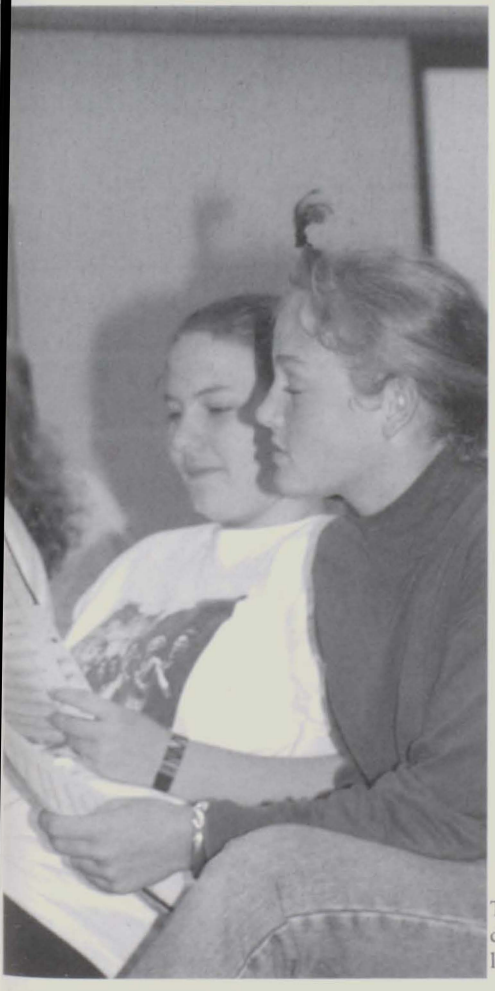
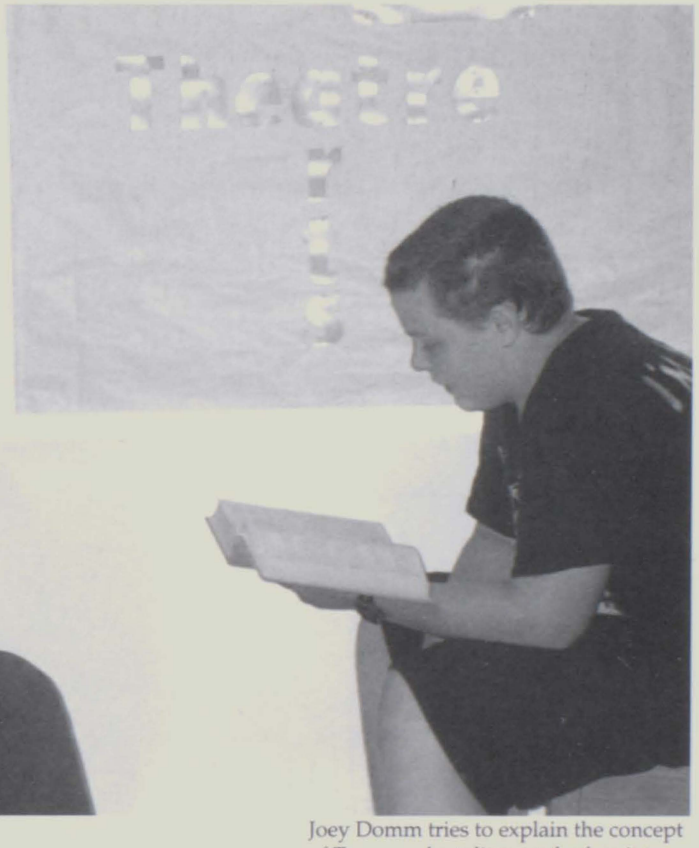
Damien Orsinger,
sawing with force,
was making a birdhouse
for this rigorous course.

Amira Pierce demonstrates her talent in Mrs. Hersey's high school band.

Kacie Gerard cheers on Jamie Spear as the two look up "xenodiagnosis" for Mrs. Dean-Pratt.



Trendsetter Joanna Bond suavely displayed her hairstyle, as Mandy Lucas looked on with envy.

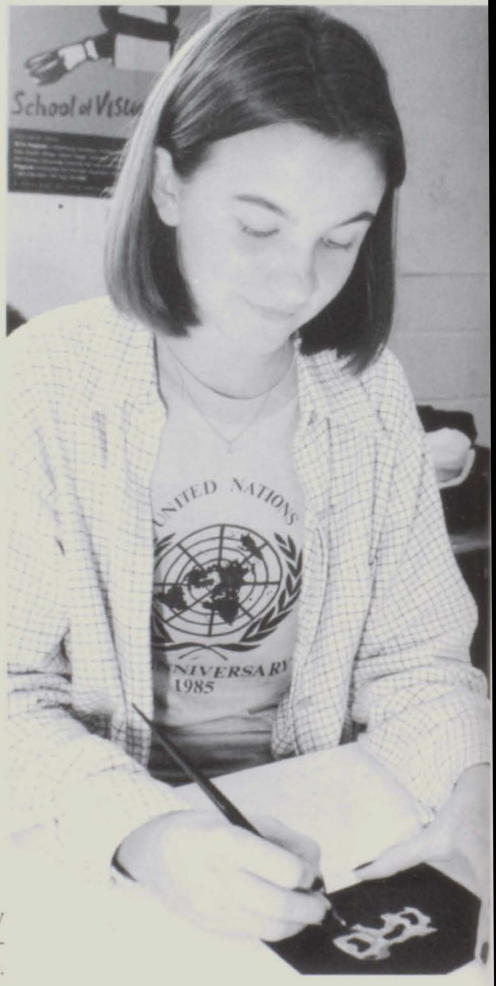


Joey Domm tries to explain the concept of Transcendentalism, and relate it to his own life, while Paul tried to look entertained.

Bobbie Brown expressed her disgust.

"Holy cow!" exclaimed Denise Horacek in awe of Mrs. Ruhl's knowledge.

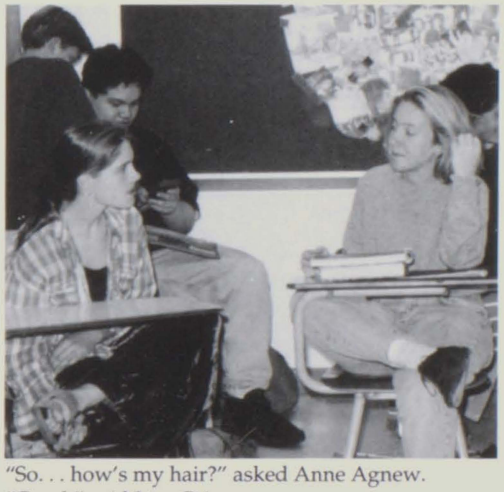
"Let's hear a little more music and a little less chatter, girls!" Flutists Megan Avots, Meghan Montgomery and Virginia Frasure stopped playing to smile for the camera.



Artist Jessica Bradshaw enjoyed creating a masterpiece.

Demonstrating his suave appearance, Ben "Little" Deutsch showed off his shades.

K.C. Gardner liked to "borrow" answers from Megan Avots.



"So. . . how's my hair?" asked Anne Agnew. "Good." said Lisa Grimm.

Almost . . . . cool enough

To walk in on a test day totally unprepared, yet be totally confident.
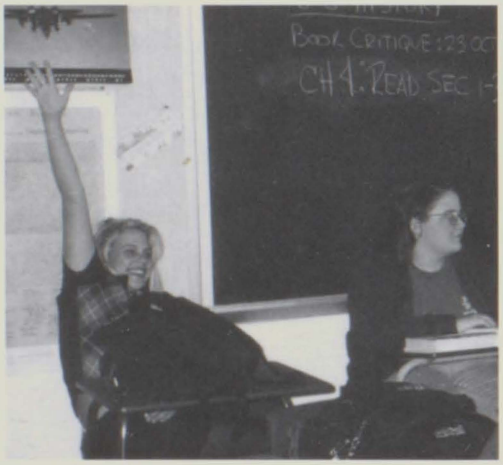
To try it again
and admit you studied.
To say "Hi" to an upperclassmen,
and get a response.
To slack off in every way imaginable
and not feel a twinge of guilt.
To be a Senior.



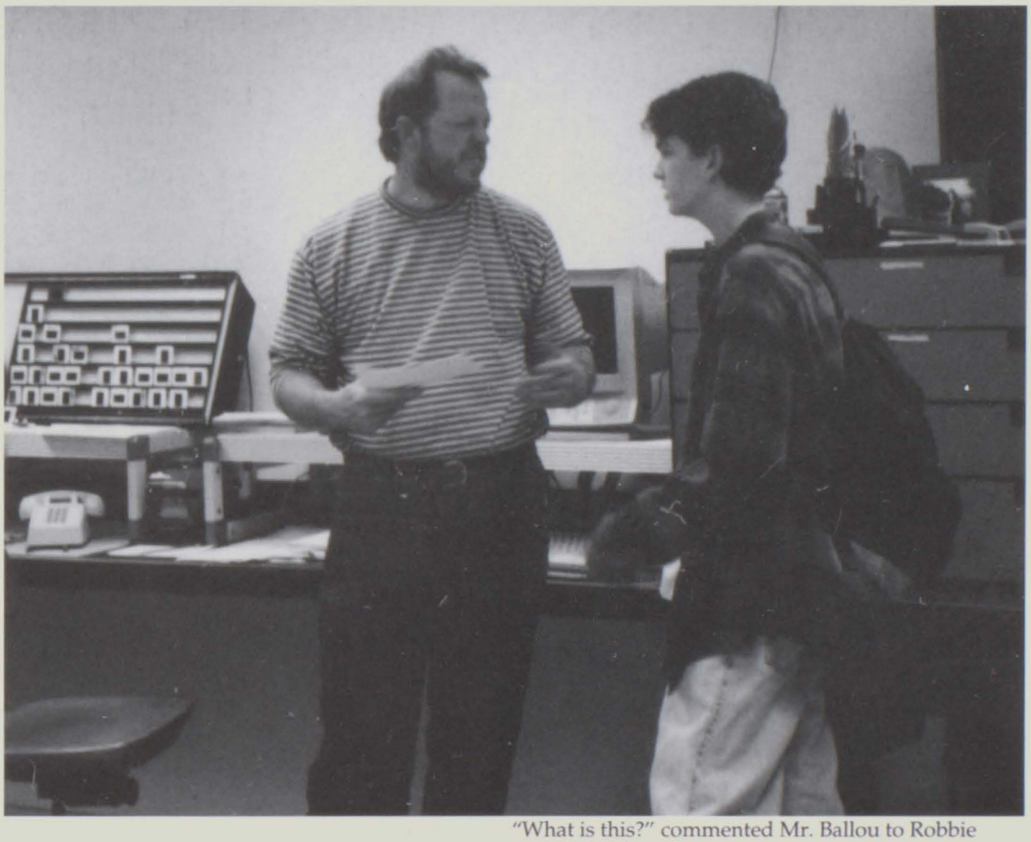
Annie Lincoln was one of the most excited students at George Mason. She was always ready to answer.

Think guys! Scientific minded Juniors joined to rediscover gravity.

"Hold on guys! I've discovered time travel!" said Eric Deschamps.

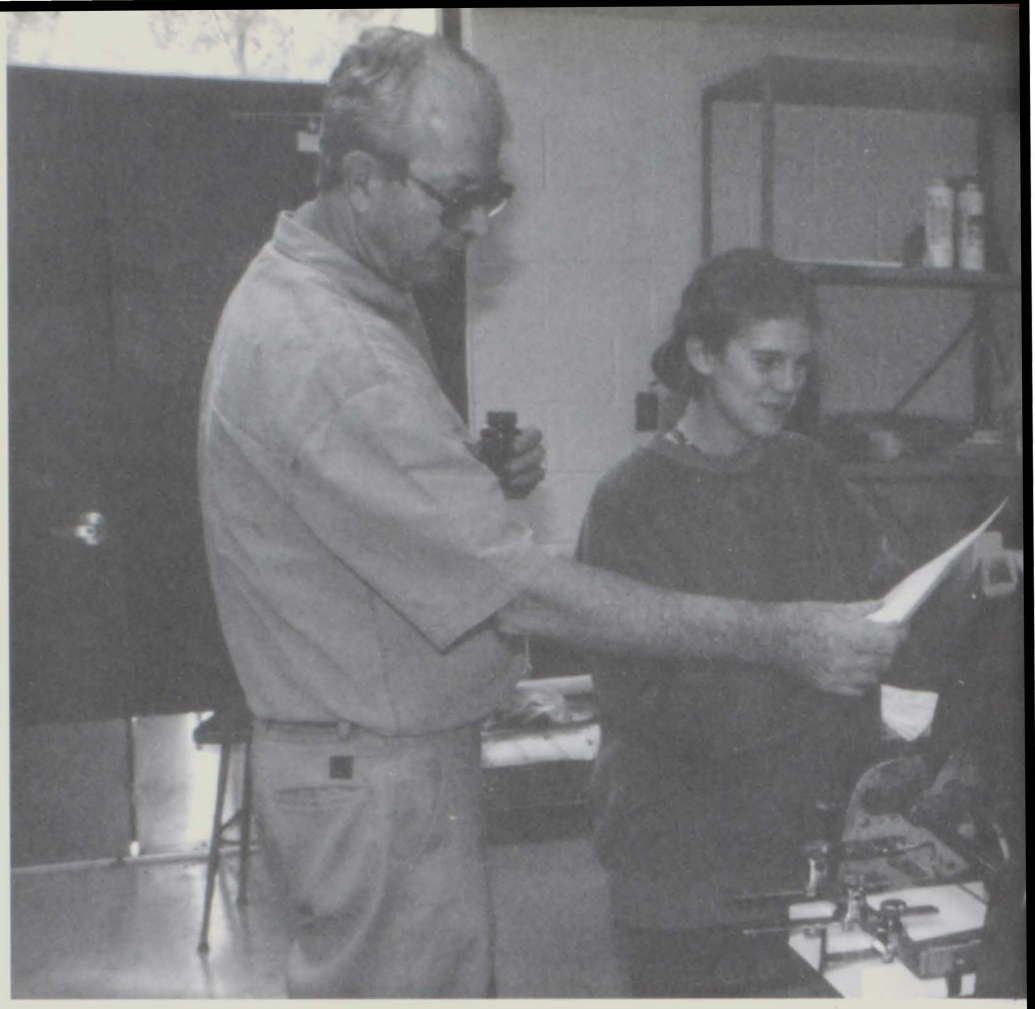
"Hmmm . . . . This class is long." comtemplated Sam Stotts; Jill Dodson is too busy to notice.

Galen Reich continued his search for a cure for cancer -- not to be disturbed by the camera.

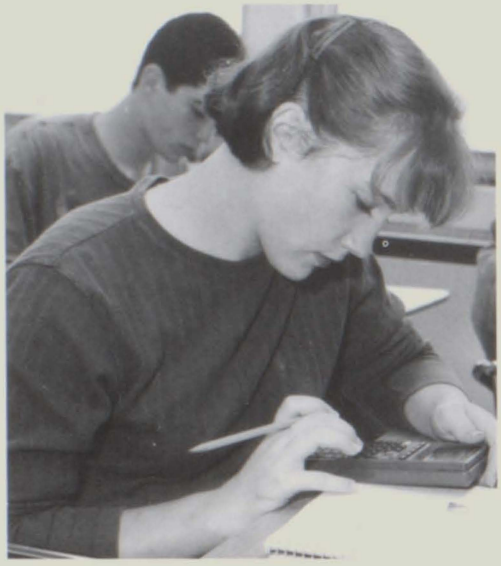


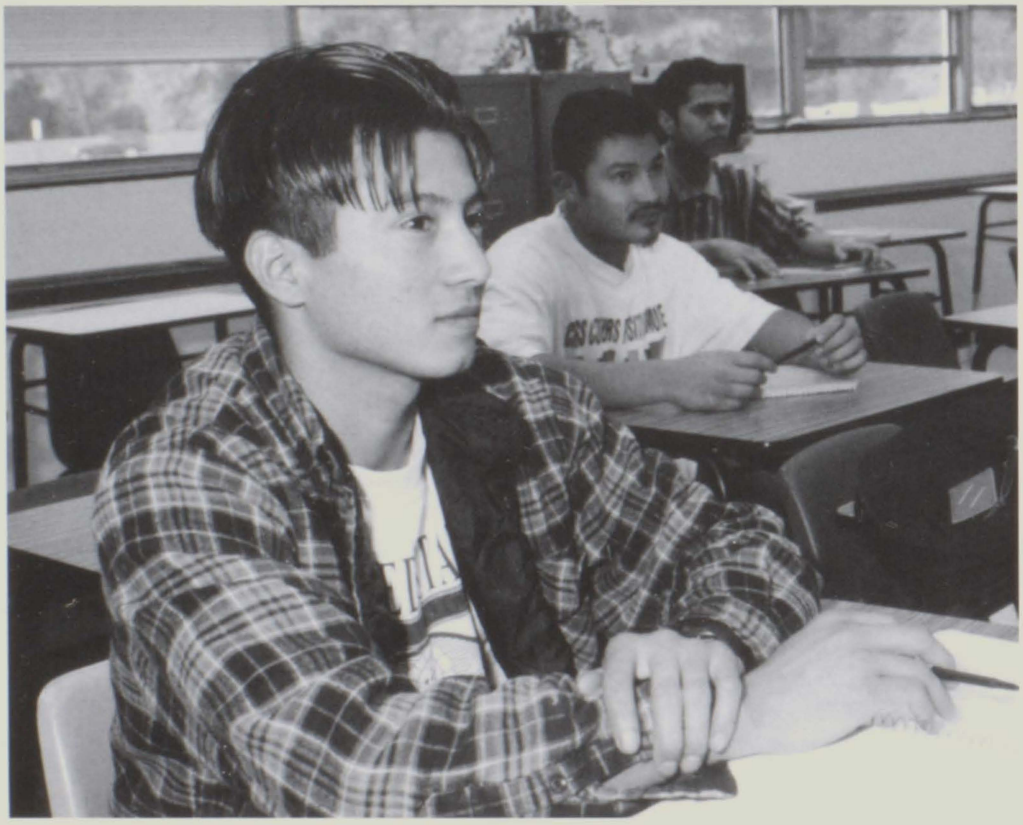
"What is this?" commented Mr. Ballou to Robbie Polzer. Works of art are sometimes hard to achieve!

Amanda Rogers discovered the magic of printing.

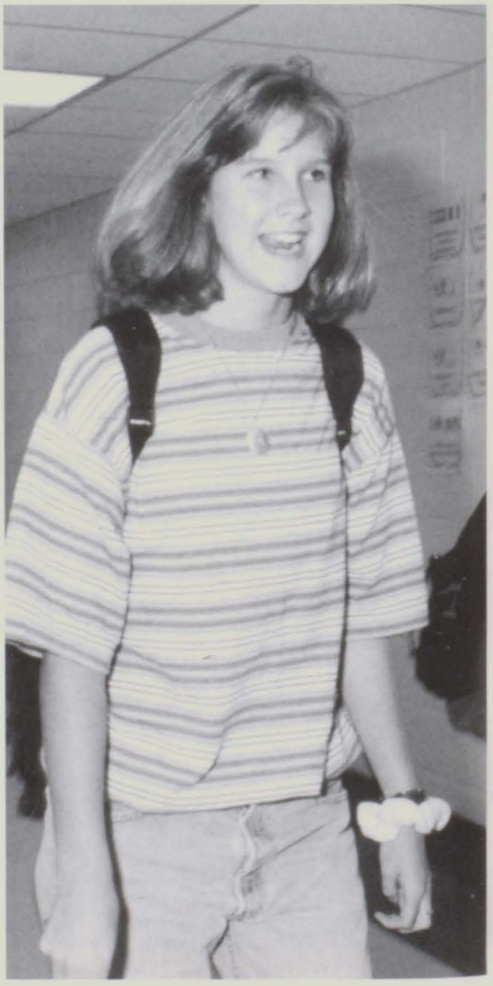


Lorraine Evans easily computed a difficult equation during her 11th grade math class.

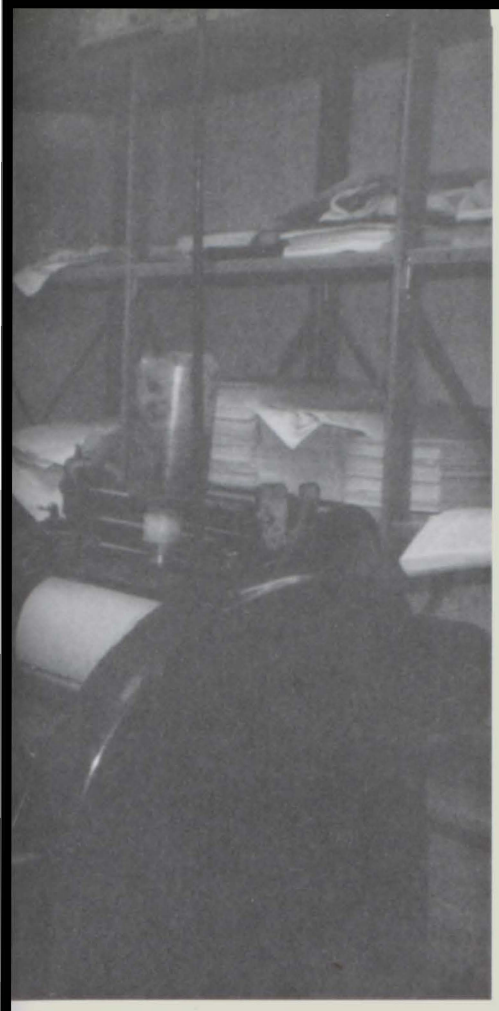




As a strong ESL student, Gilbert Barahona paid close attention in class.



"There's just never enough time between classes." said Jill Dodson, as she rushed off to her next class.



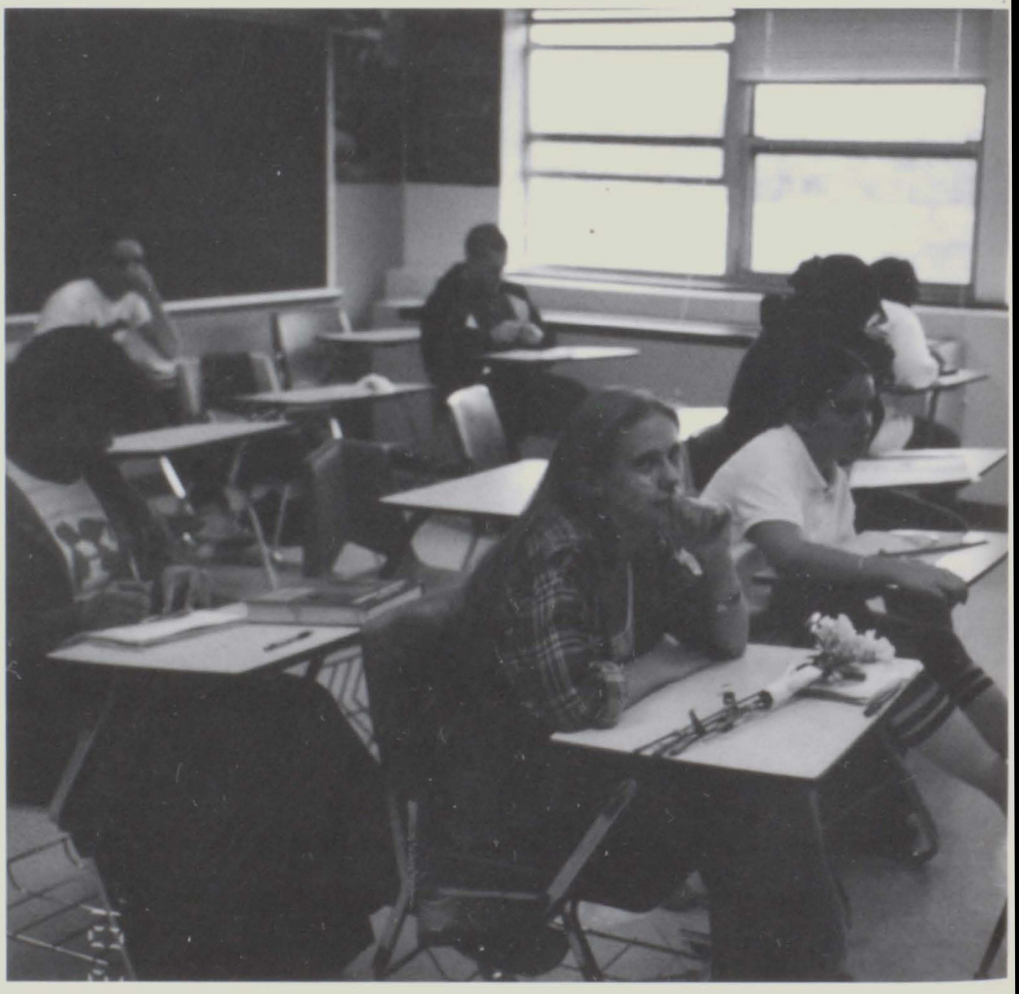
Juniors Robert Durham, Eric Deschamps, Megan Washam and Jocelyn Cox compared homework answers-- a common scene at George Mason.

The studious Brittany Templer always found time to study!

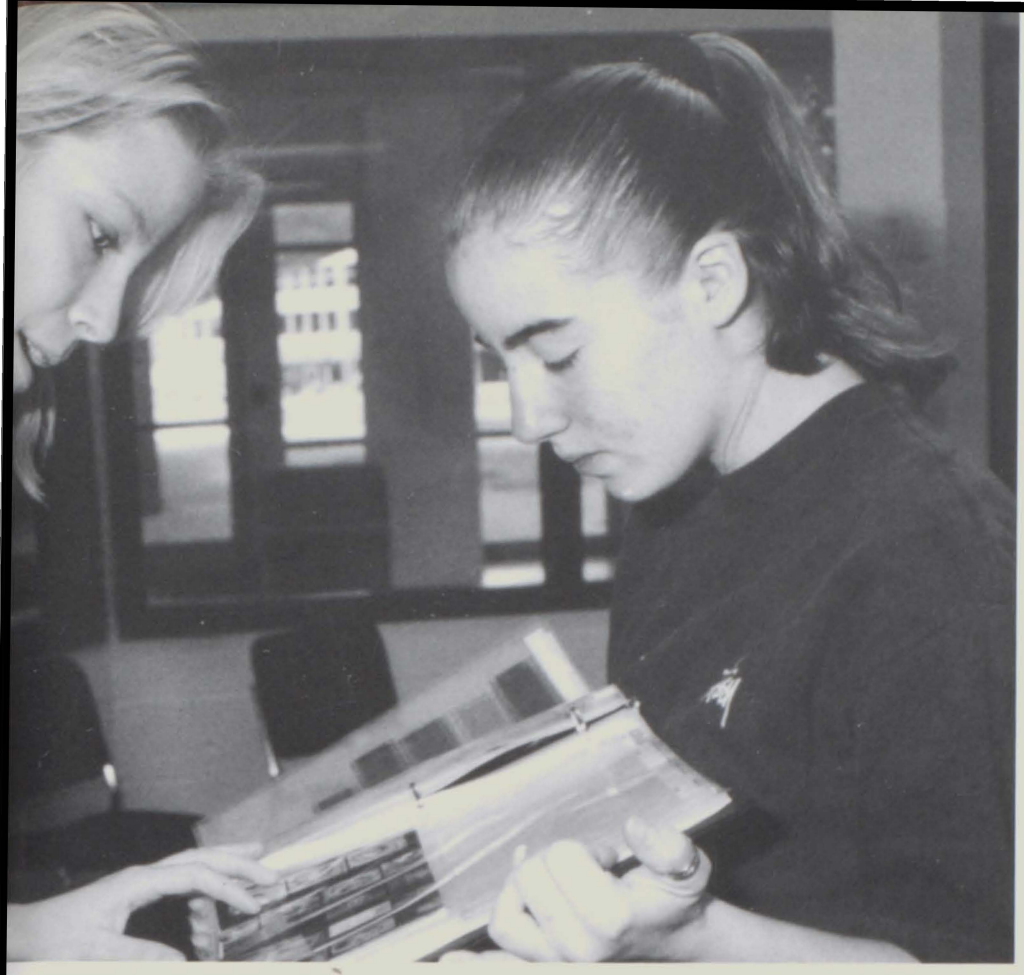
Susy Yates studied diligently while Basketball Star Maggie Kuhn flipped through her own book.

Allison Burfield studied for her next test while Andrea Caumont chatted with a friend--never a dull moment during Junior years!

Junior Sarah Romer studied in the gym-- she always had friends around to help her!

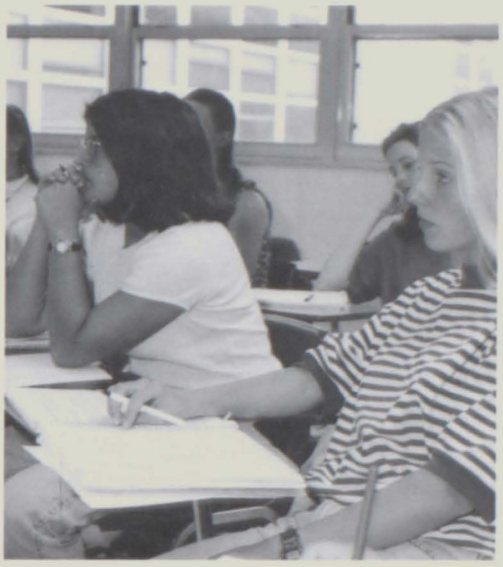


During Spirit Week Bethany Heller helped her class by painting her face.



Juniors Beth Sprague and Maria Angulo discussed a hot topic in the library.

Of course, there are times when George Mason students aren't quite so excited . . . . sometimes it's just too early.



Maggie Kuhn keyed away at her computer.

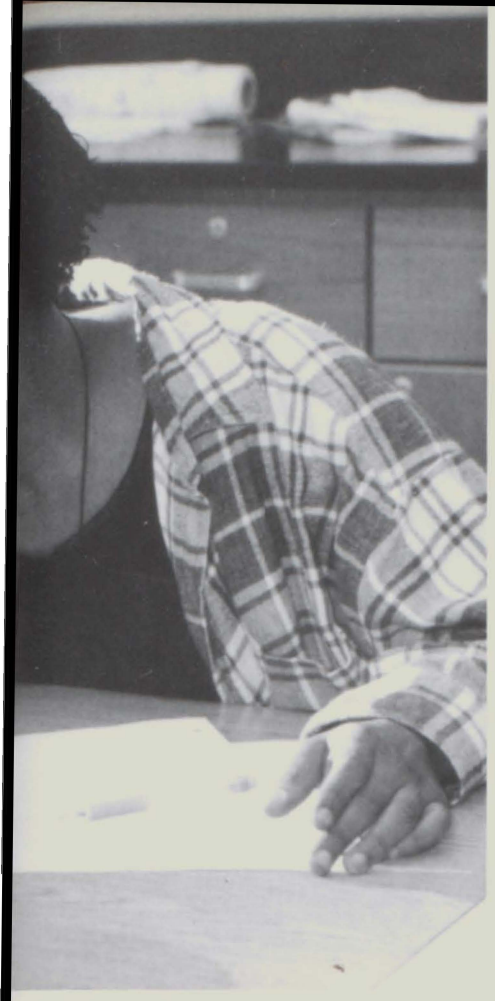
Band member Manish Gupta played a tune on his trombone.

As you can see, Natasha Haley was overjoyed by the experimentation process.

"Come on, Mr. Hoover, you really don't expect us to believe you're gonna read those papers over the weekend. So why can't they just be due Monday?" said Mary Lancaster.

"@#&*! That looks halfway decent." said John Waszilycsak. "I don't know, Danielle." said Jessie Domm, "I think it needs something more."

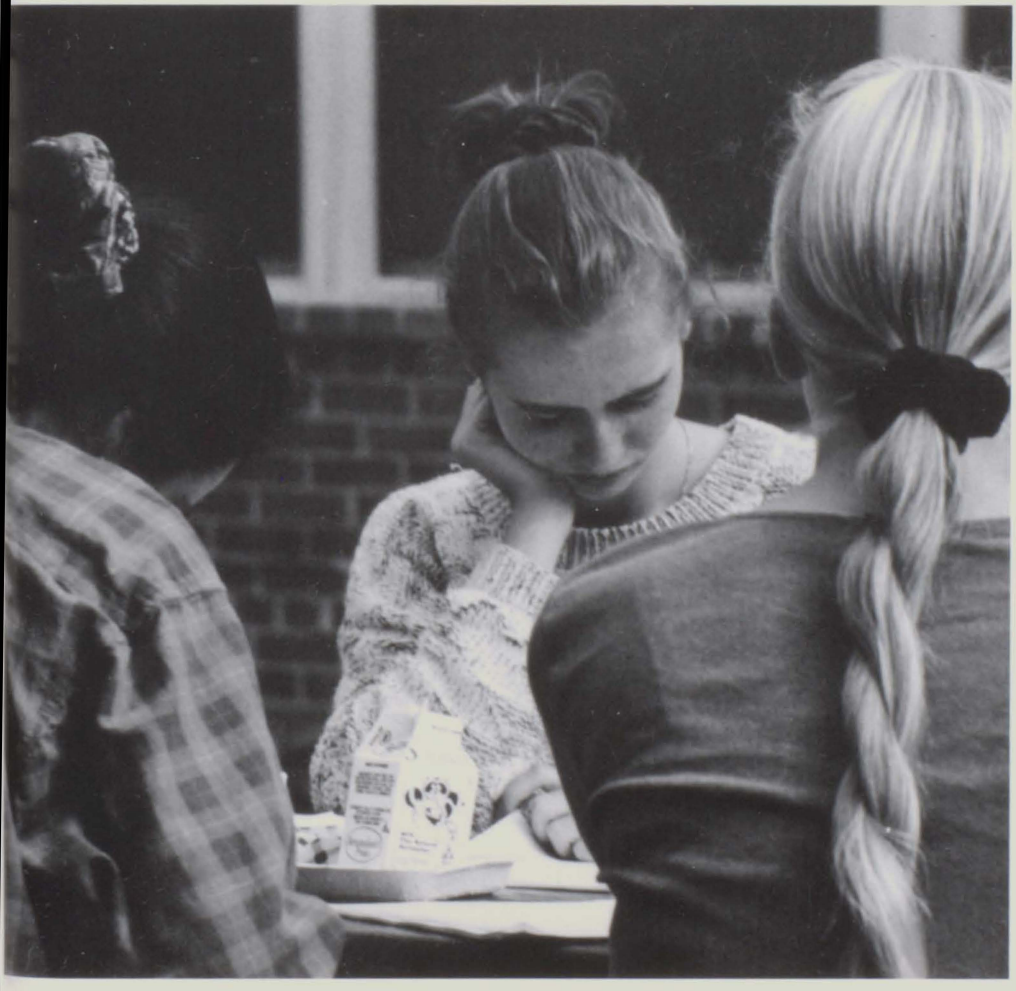
Class leaders Julie Noone and Kathryn Schumacher were rarely found apart.

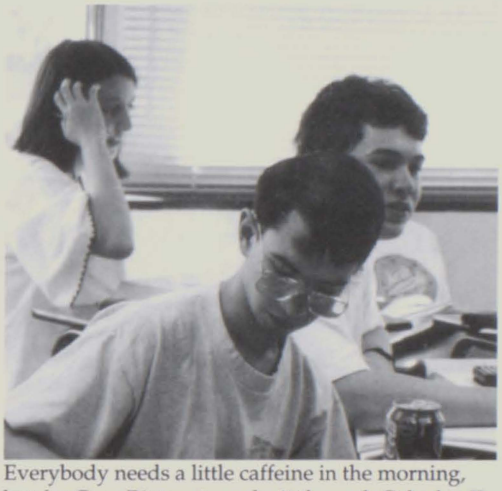


The Realism of the All-Knowing

As these highly remarkable gods of the high school world pondered their close-at-hand and ever-successful futures, some questions still remained:

Was there really such a thing as a "karate bird"?
How important was the "Intermediate Value Theorem"?
What questions from our history class would be asked of us during our personal interviews for summer jobs?
What would we do next?





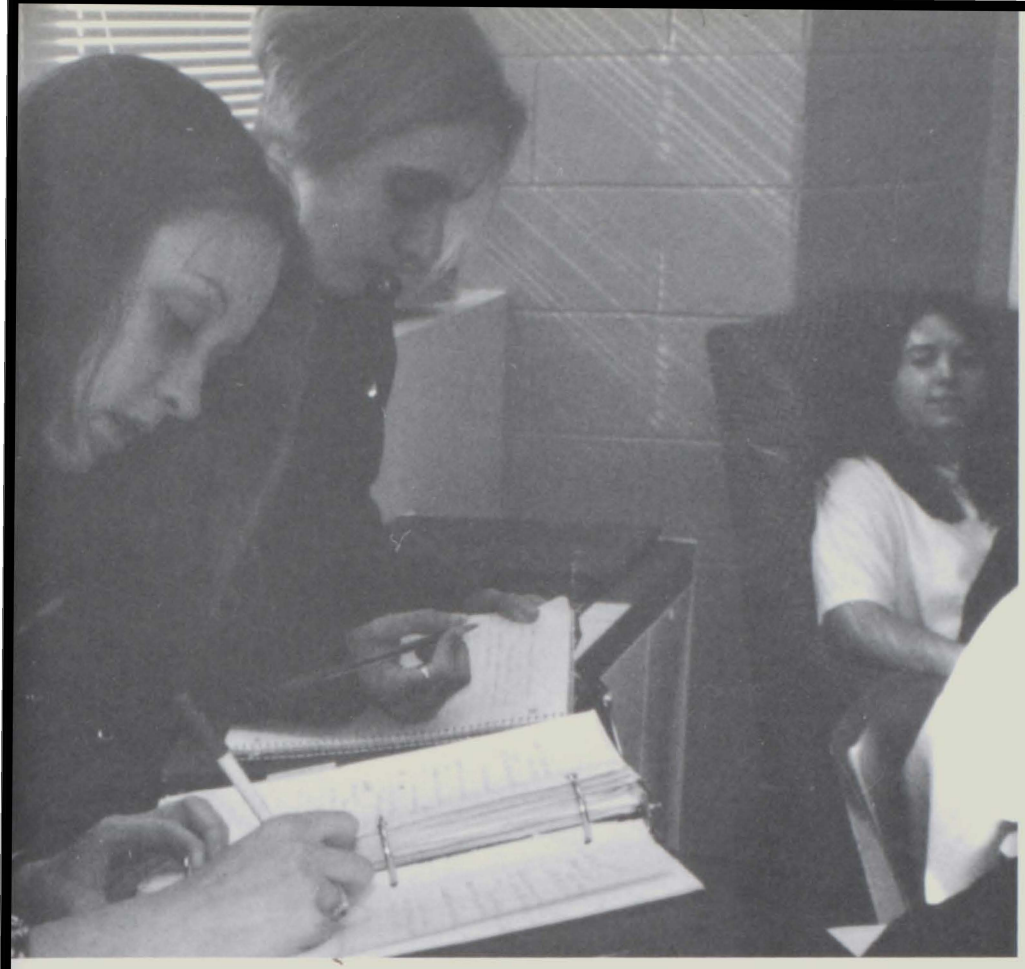
Everybody needs a little caffeine in the morning, but for Greg Ristow to make it through Calculus II, it's going to take a double dose.

Riara Wilson, Katia Fredriksen and Erin Avots engaged in a quiet, but comfortable lunch studying.

Lorraine Barrett contemplated the arrangement on her desk: the little fishies, a hole-puncher and a staple remover. Imagine the possibilities!

Students in TV Production critiqued one of their class productions.

"Grammar-man" Chris Lutz went "on-line" as the new computer-mania hit George Mason.



Katie Eichorn and Cassie Lewis stayed warm on the radiator in English class.

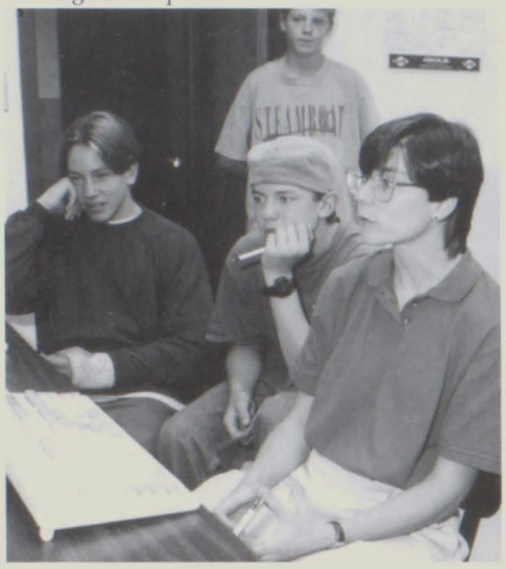
Claudia Crowell became desperate as she searched for the smiley-faced goldfish.

Sarah Jackson: "Where is it?"
Danielle Hoetmer: "It's really small."
Sarah: "I figured that. I think it was the microscope that tipped me off."

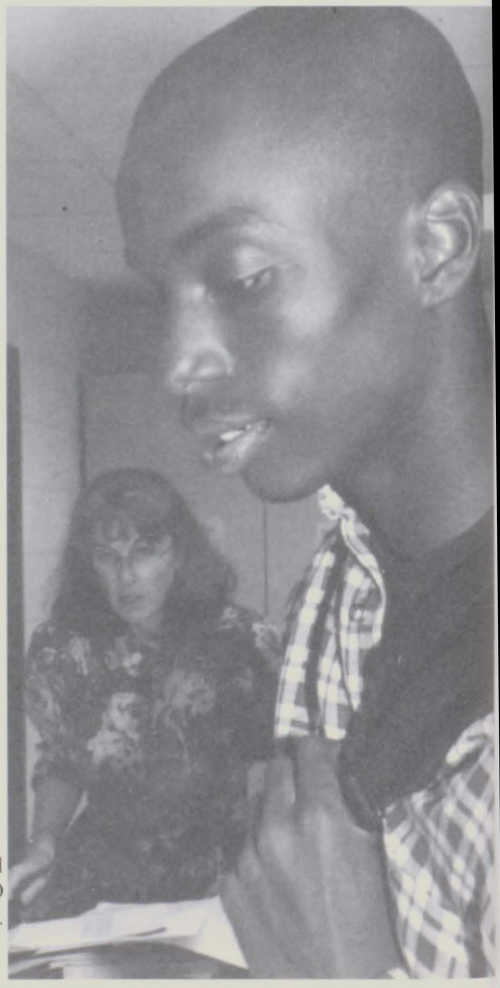
Erica Knight conducted an SCA meeting afterschool.

Mr. Hoover believed in a comfortable classroom environment.

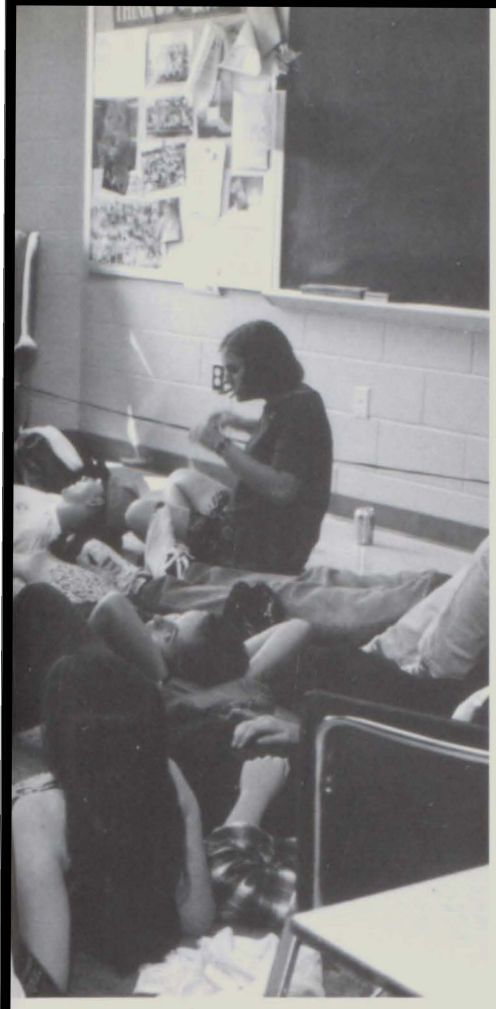
Mrs. Knoke showed her students how to produce some challenging solutions utilizing the computers.



Freshmen Jamie Redick, Sarah Salwen, and Karen Ray listen intently in class.



Tayo Adamolekum received assistance from LASSO advisor, Mrs. Dean-Pratt.



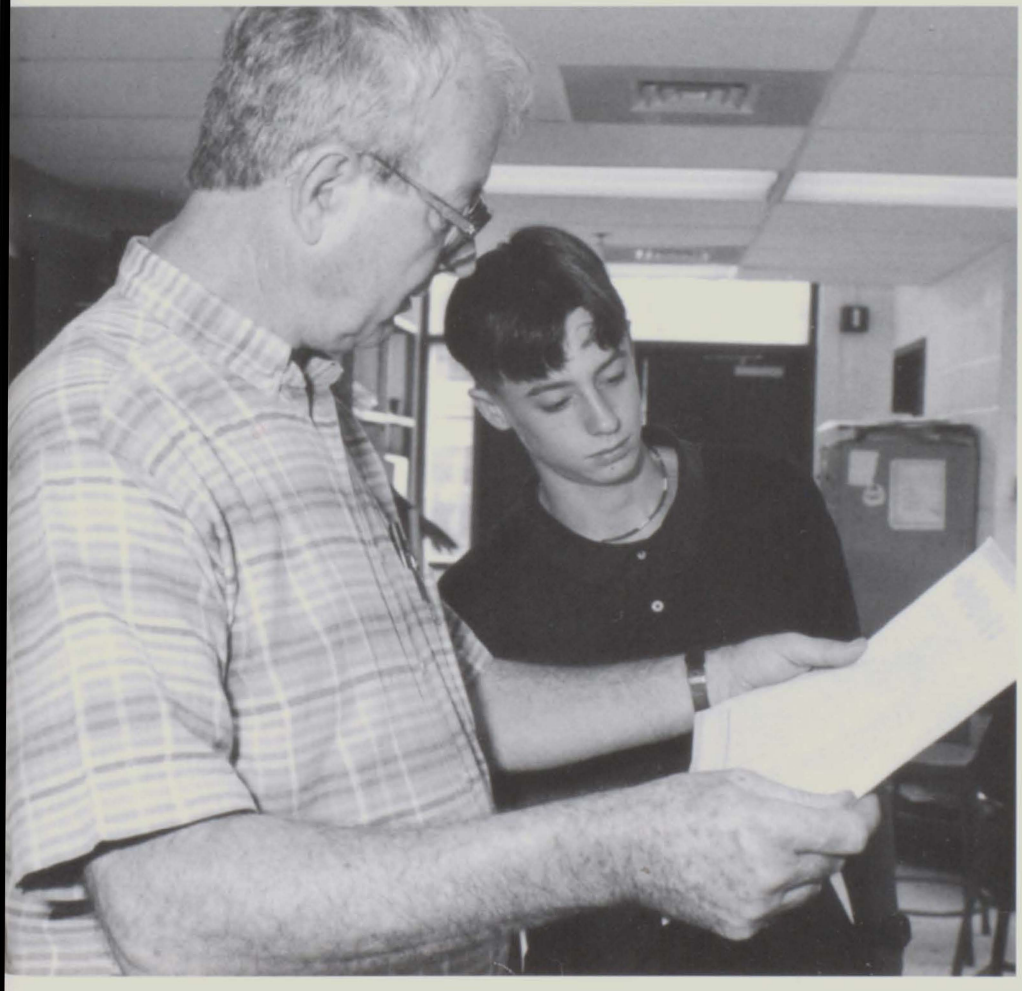
What the Teachers of George Mason High School Would Be Doing if They Weren't Here With Us.

Mrs. Ruhl would be working at Josten's looking at other school's yearbooks.

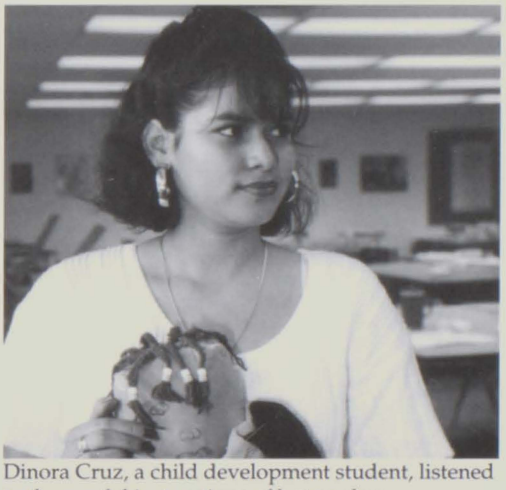
Mr. Peloquin would be the rich and properous owner of the first Disco Dance Club in Iran.

Mr. Moroney would be awarded a sum of $2 million for being the coolest guy.

Doc Rob would continue his life-long search for the world's most frictionless surface.

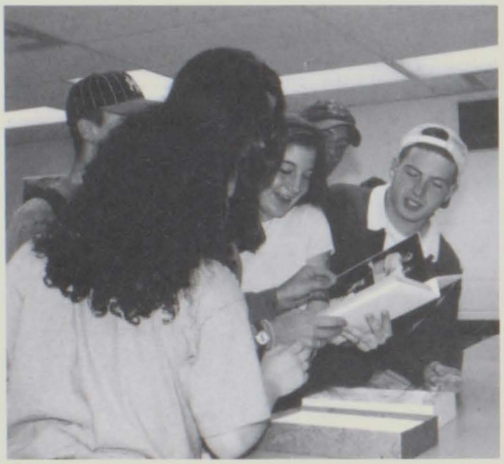


Mr. Sheedy imparts his knowledge to Jason Lewis, a Sophomore in print shop.

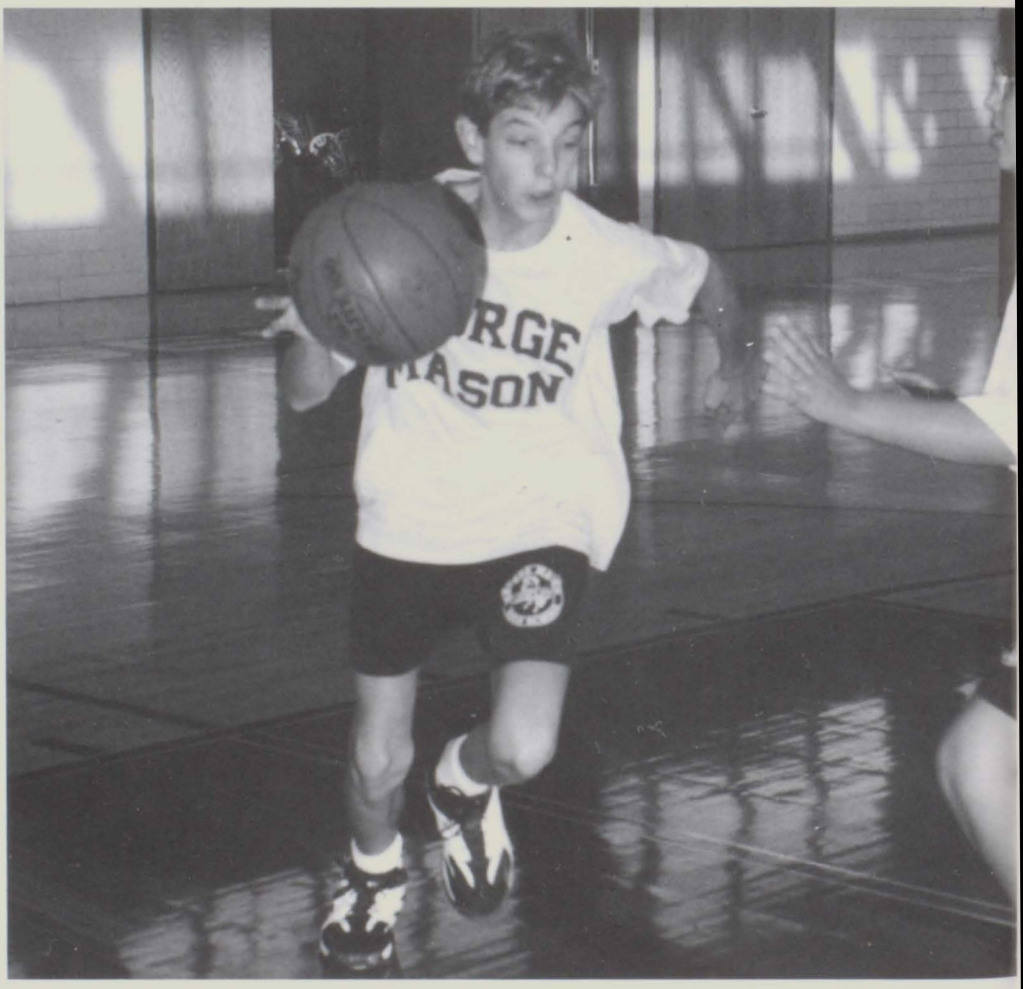


Dinora Cruz, a child development student, listened to the careful instructions of her teacher.

Mixed reactions around! Alex Shalit and Jordan Hamory relax in their own way.



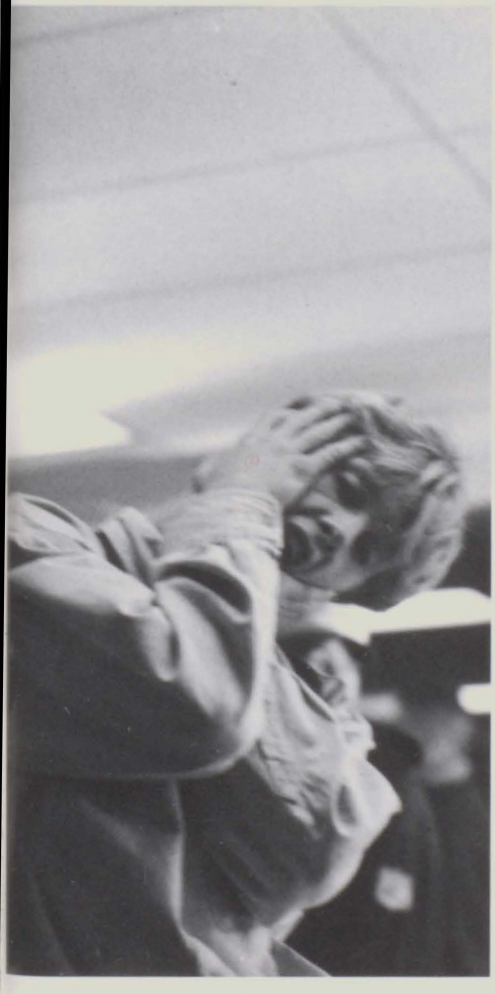
The George Mason Journalists on a break.



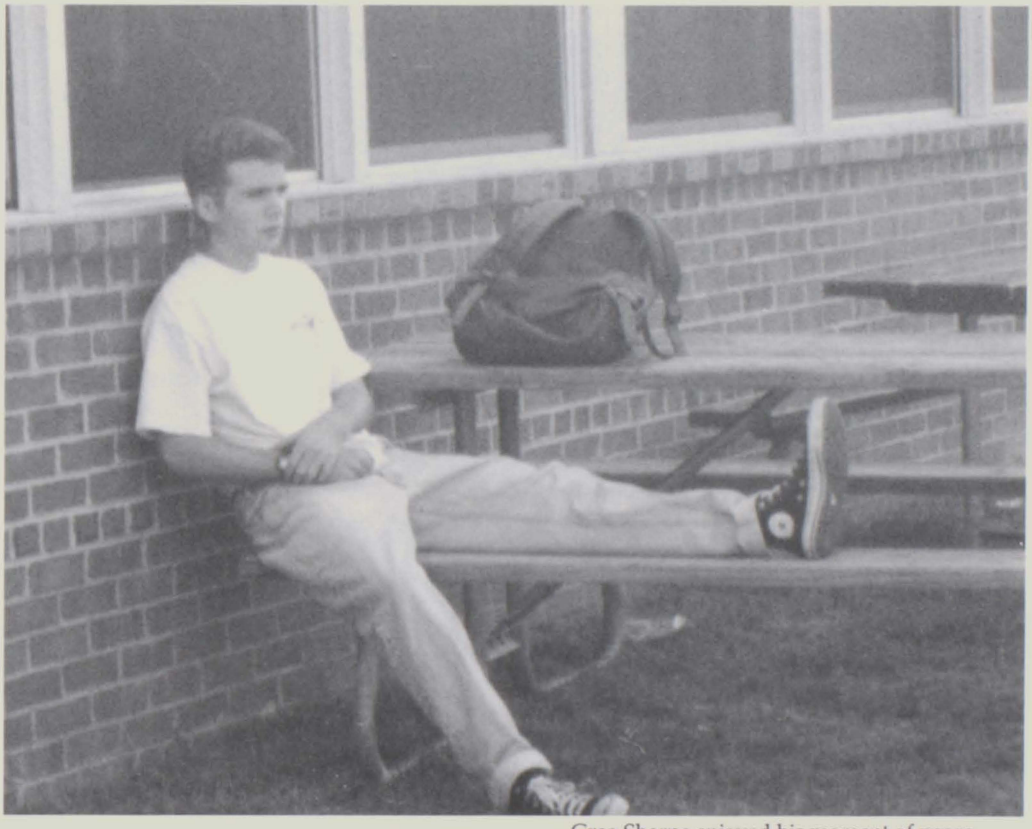
Paul Polzer as the next Michael Jordan?

Amira Pierce and Abby Burroughs were poised to swat in Madame Johnsen's French class.

A brief respite for GM's Orchestra.



Jonathan Florance relieved some stress between classes by letting out a scream.



Greg Sharpe enjoyed his moment of peace in the Senior Courtyard.

Maria Elena Nudell

We remembered Maria- our classmate, our friend, our team member, our student--

Maria Elena Nudell would have been a member of the Class of 1999. We missed her laughter and kind spirit.

Cochabamba, Bolivia - South America

As an Exchange student last summer, Senior Jennifer Karro experienced it all, from milking a Bolivian cow to dodging, and attending our Bolivia Sister School. "The experience was incredible" Jennie commented upon her return -- yet she admits it was a relief to get back to the good ol' American ways. "I thought the Spanish thing was a joke!" she exclaimed. "They really speak it down there."

Jennie Karro at her greatest moment. "I named this cow, Bob!," she exclaimed.

Cochabamba-- from a mountain on the side of the city.

"Wildlife was everywhere in Bolivia; we spent days out at the farm a lot."

Ketchua Indians pounded rice for a meal.

Seniors Ingrid Camacho and Jennie Karro posed for the camera on the campus of our Sister School.

Gabriela,

Since you were a little girl, we have spent a lot of time playing with you and teaching, talking and listening to you. Now, you are a little woman and we are proud of you. We realize that your dedication was not in vain. The way to reach this point was not easy for you, but you are a wonderful fighter and a hard worker. You have made a good job. We want to keep you in the same way and remember that we'll always, always be here for you.

Congratulations! from your dear brother, Blas; from your loving father, Blas; and from your caring mother, Estilita.

We all love you so much.

Donna Lucille Watson

Chisel in hand stood a sculpture boy with his marble block before him,
And his eyes lit up with a smile of joy
As an angel-dream passed o'er him.

He carved the dream on that shapeless stone,
With many a sharp incision;
With heaven's own light the sculpture shone,
He'd caught the angel-vision.

Children of life are you, as you stand
With your lives uncarved before you,
Waiting the hour when, at God's command,
Your life-dream shall pass o'er you.

If you carve it then on the yielding stone,
With many a sharp incision,
Its heavenly beauty shall be your own,
Your lives, that angel-vision.

- George Washington Doane

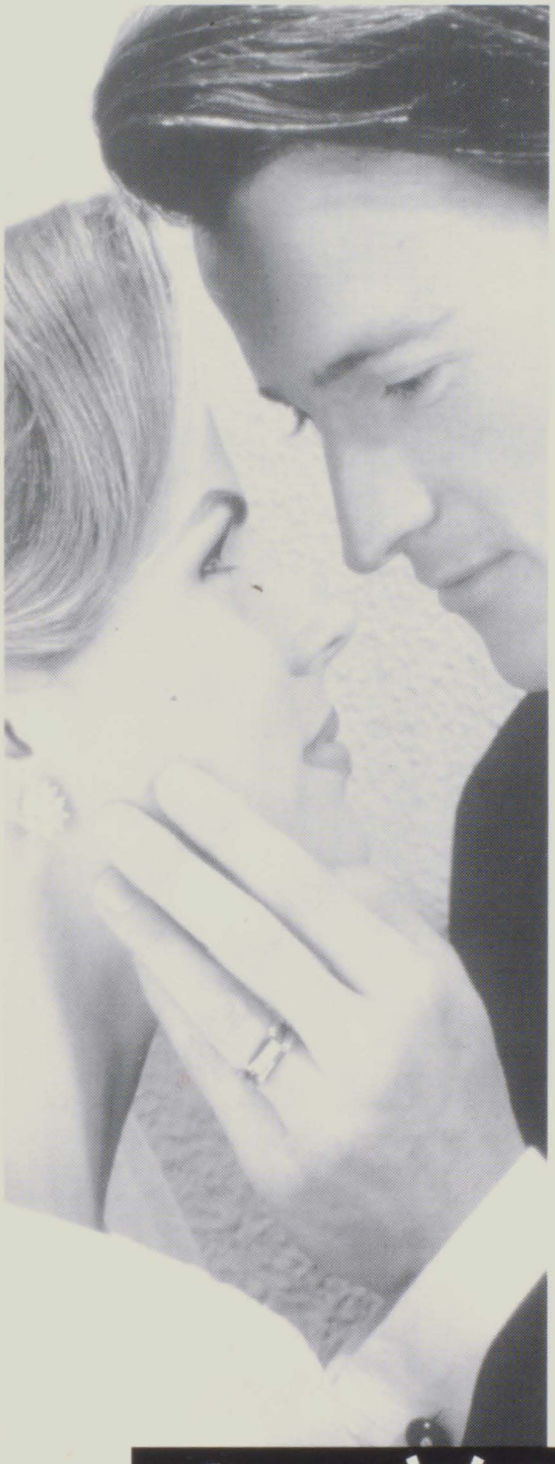
YOU'LL FIND THE HIGHEST QUALITY DIAMONDS AND FINE JEWELRY AT THE LOWEST PRICES IN WASHINGTON

GUARANTEED



When you buy diamonds and jewelry, how do you know you're not paying too much? How can you be sure you're not being misled about the quality? Unfortunately, it happens often. Now you can be sure it doesn't happen to you. How? By knowing what you should ask, and what you should look for.

Get our FREE 16 page brochure:

"Diamond Buying for Dummies: Your Friendly Guide"

This 16 page guide cuts through the jargon that too often confuses people. After you read this, you'll know what to ask, what to avoid, and how to make sure you get what you want.

"Always the best price" means no haggle, no hassle.

At Washington Diamond & Jewelry, you don't have to worry about negotiating. We set the lowest prices from the start. But talk is cheap. That's why we back up our "talk" with our "walk".

Our exclusive "110% money-back guarantee" helps you...

be sure you're getting the best price . . . period! Basically, here's how it works: If you buy from us, and find a better price on the same quality piece within 48 hours, we'll give you 110% of the difference!

Our "No questions asked 10-day money-back guarantee" lets you sleep soundly after you've made your investment. Bring back any piece of jewelry within 10 days, and we'll give you every penny back, no questions asked. Just keep it in its new condition.

GIA & EGL Diamond Grading Reports guarantee . . .

you're getting what you think you're getting. The Gemological Institute of America (GIA) and its counterpart the European Gemological Lab (EGL) are the leading laboratories in the jewelry industry. Their training is the best there is. Several of our people (including our owner, Robert Daube) are GIA trained. The GIA & EGL certify diamonds. These reports are so highly respected in the jewelry industry that professionals will often buy a diamond sight unseen, based strictly on these reports! With each diamond we sell for over $1,000, you get a GIA or EGL Diamond Grading Report. These independent reports protect you from surprises down the road. They are, by the way, expensive. We spend $100 and more on each report. And we do it to protect you.

If you love colored gemstones, you'll find some of the finest in our store! Tanzanites, Sapphires, Rubies, Emeralds, Tsavorites, and more! They're on display. You'll look and feel terrific wearing these gemstones, especially if you choose a piece custom-made, just for you. We can do that, at a price that will surprise you!

Do you want to design your own piece of fine jewelry?

We have a custom goldsmith shop in our store. You can choose from platinum or gold, 18 karat or 14 karat. Why not design a unique piece that says something special about you? It costs less than you might imagine. We also offer quick, in-store repairs on all your fine jewelry.

Americut, our own diamond brand, gives you the finest diamonds, at the best prices. We have diamond-buying connections throughout the world. After buying diamonds at excellent prices, we have them cut to precise, demanding specifications. Only these spectacular diamonds become Americuts, our own brand name diamonds. The result? You get diamonds high in quality at the very best prices.

Trade in or trade up & spend less

We'll establish a fair value for the jewelry you now own so that your new jewelry is even more affordable. We will also advance you money on estate jewelry and diamonds, or purchase them from you outright.

The best diamonds, at the best prices GUARANTEED!

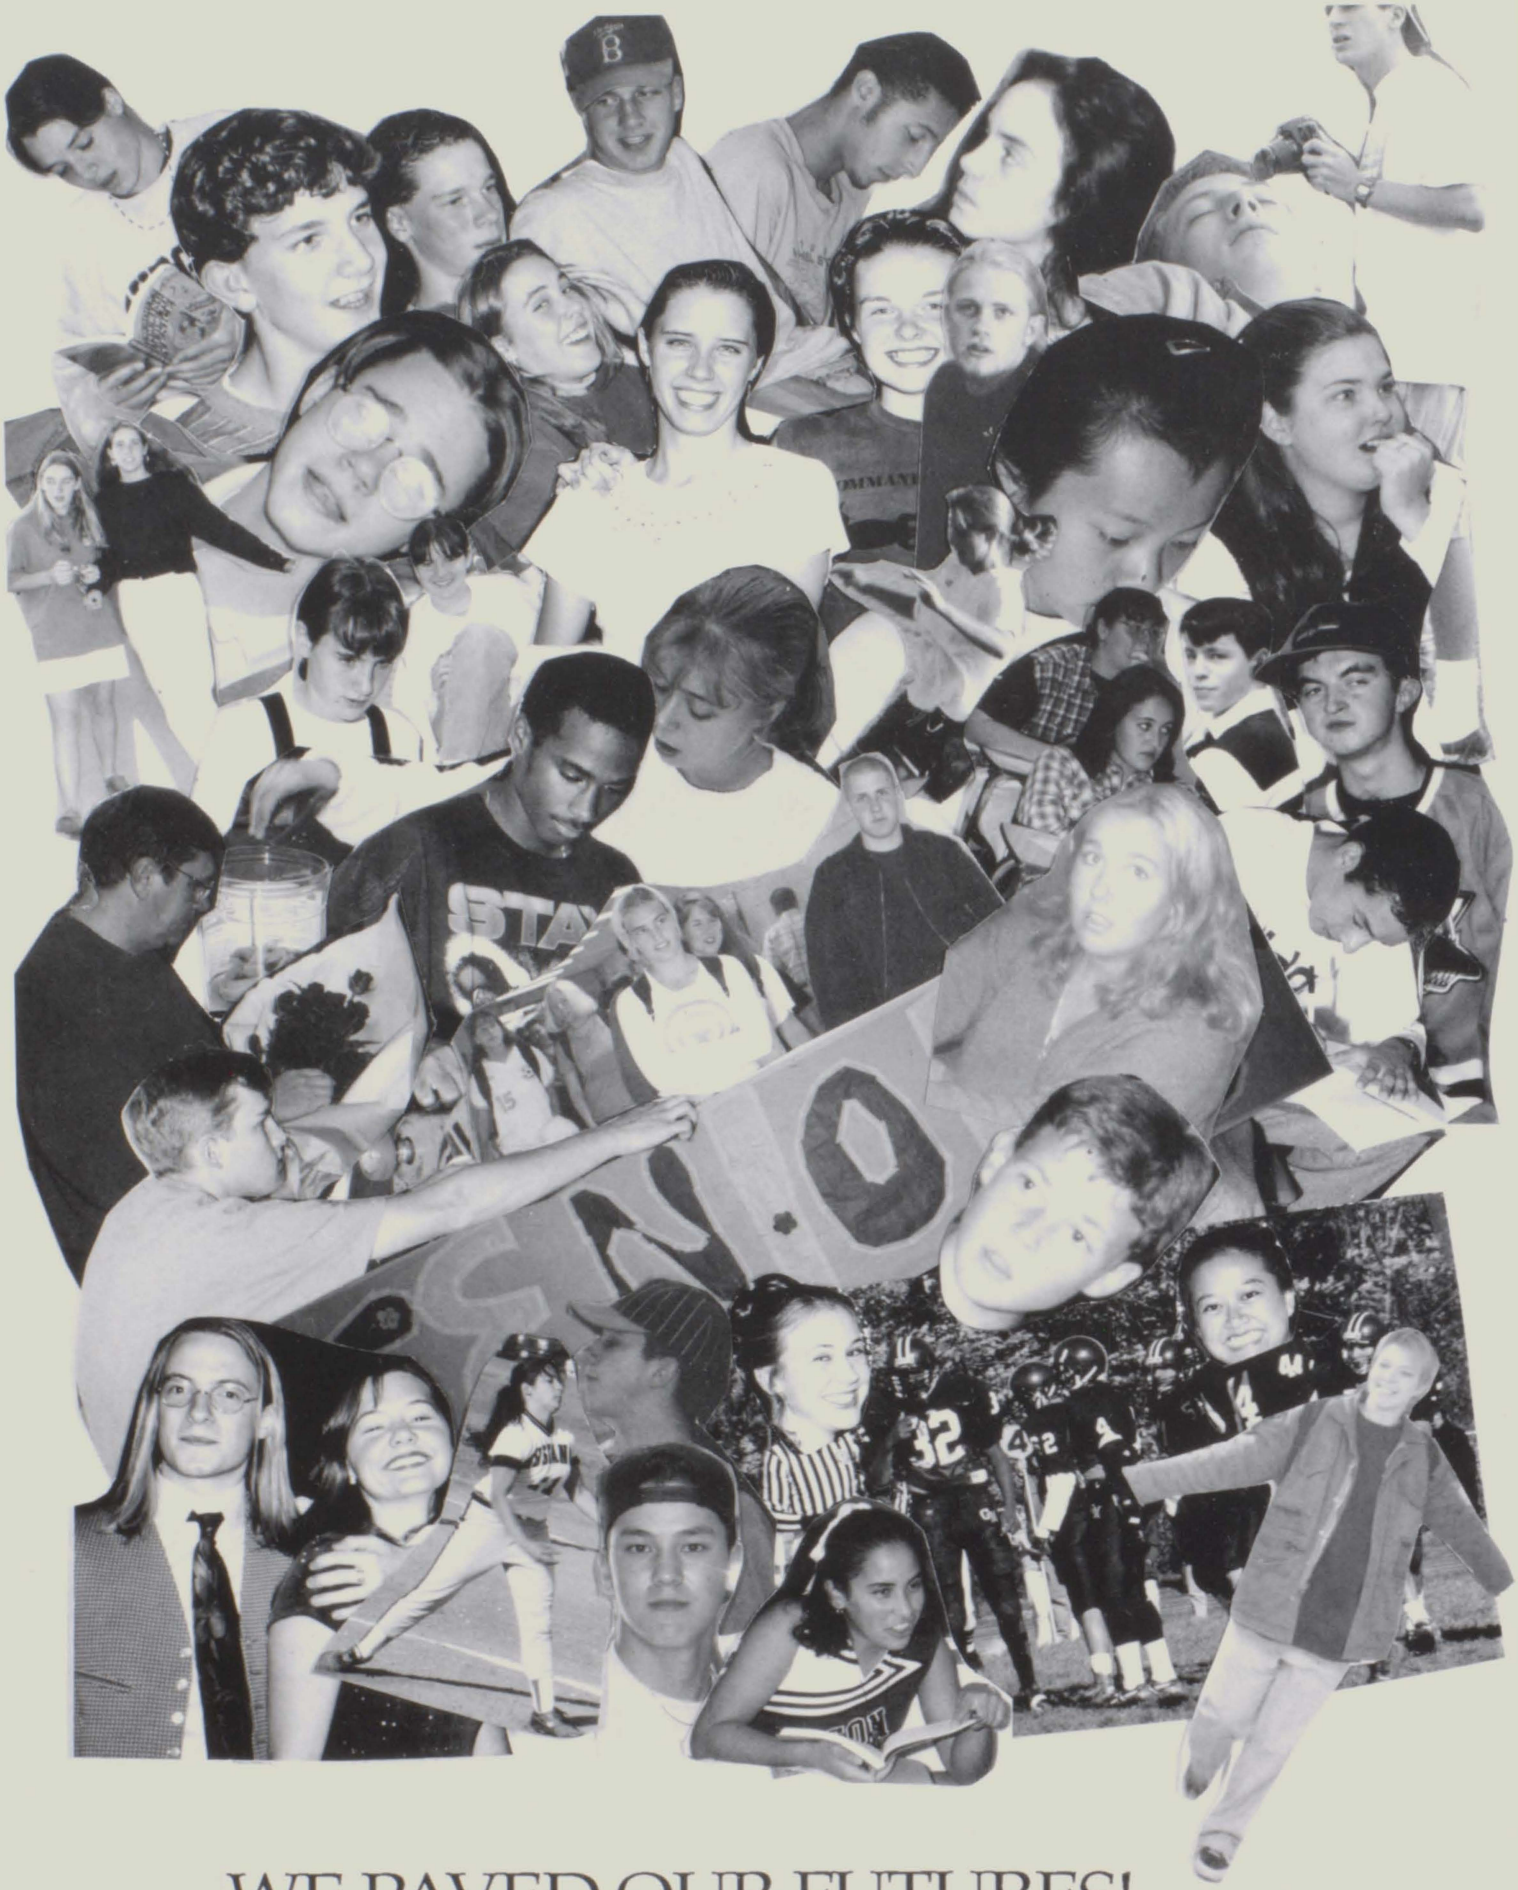
To the 1996 Mustang Staff:
Thanks so much for all your work, time and tireless efforts. Though this school year exhausted our energies and tried our patience, we've managed to succeed in producing the best yearbook possible. In creating this book, we have all realized the rewards of working together and building upon our successes. We are truly thankful for your dedication.
To the staff of 1997, we wish you lots of luck.

Love,
Gabriela ,Kacie, Lindy and Mrs. Ruhl

"Paving the Future" was published by Hunter Publishing Company, a division of Jostens, located at 2505 Empire Drive, Winston Salem, North Carolina 27113. Three-hundred and thirty copies of the 1996 Mustang, 45th Volume, were printed. "Paving the Future" is 144 pages long, with 16 pages in color. The yearbook was produced on an Apple-MacIntosh II SI with the use of ALDUS PAGEMAKER v.4.2 and Yeartech, by Jostens. The type style used throughout the book was Palatino, 8 point for captions, and 14 point for kickers. Headlines, subheadings, and body point size varied throughout. The cover is "grained phoenix" with cream accent. The price of the yearbook was $45.00 before the end of December 1995, $55.00 beginning in January, 1996. Segall-Majestic took game photos, student portraits, and developed film. Thanks to John Bailey, our Jostens representative, and Jenny Caskey, Josten's Staff, for all of their advice and support. Thanks also to Mrs. Jan Ruhl for her extra time. The entire staff wishes our outgoing seniors a very successful college career and life. The yearbook staff would also like to wish everyone a relaxing and enjoyable summer!



WE PAVED OUR FUTURES!
